A Woman at 49.
Money Is Easier.
Defense by Retaliation.
One Animal, Two Brains.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

ETHEL BARRYMORE, 49 years old yesterday, told friends she was enjoying life "as much as ever."

She ought to be enjoying life more than ever.

For an intelligent woman, real life begins at 49. Wise providence won't let women do important mental work much before 50. Up to that age nature intends women to be busy with children.

THE money situation is better for prosperity and business. Apparently Federal Reserve authorities have decided that promoting usurious rates of interest in order to "let out" respectable financiers that sold the market short a year ago, is not wise.

The price of "call money" dropped to 4½ per cent yesterday, lowest since May 3.

The day before the rate was 7 per cent. Quite a change.

WHEN the President returns from fishing, he might have a commission of his own to investigate respectabilities that sold the market short a year ago and got the Federal Reserve to help them "cover" their foolishness.

LONDON authorities, after the mimic air war, announce unanimously, "London cannot be defended successfully by anti-aircraft measures. The only real safety lies in attacking the raiders."

Enough airplanes to repel attack require gigantic air fleets. The best plan is to prepare a great air fleet to drop bombs and poison gas, so that no enemy would dare attack, knowing that its own cities would be immediately destroyed by British forces.

SOME day our country will think about air defense. It hasn't even established a separate air force. We tie our flying forces to old Army and Navy fogies. That is like leaving management of railroads to an old stage coach line.

ROY CHAPMAN ANDREWS, searching for strange things in Central Asia, reports finding an extinct monster "as big as the Woolworth Building."

Such an animal, if carnivorous, could carry home in its mouth a couple of big elephants and walk through an ordinary city crushing buildings as it went.

But it had a small head, little or no thinking power. That is why it is no longer with us.

THE biggest dinosaur thus far known had one brain in its head, and another half-way down the spine, to work the lower part of the body. It hadn't enough energy in the top brain to work the whole dinosaur.

Some times, when you consider our government, you feel that this country is getting in the dinosaur class, and needs another brain located somewhere along the line.

COM. BYRD takes a band with him to the South Pole. The seals, whales and penguins will also hear a fine talking machine supplied with 150 records.

The sad little penguins, so gentle, trustful and harmless, will waddle up to hear the music, and get knocked on the head for their pains, and eaten.

This reminds you of old kings that sent out bands to play for their soldiers. The soldiers marched cheerfully behind until they were knocked on the head, human penguins.

MIGHTY is the power of time and compound interest. In 1858, 70 years ago, Ehrhardt V. Franz, having made $97,786 in the grocery business, left it in trust. A Federal court reports that it now amounts to $10,000,000.

Save money and it will save you. Poverty is slavery. The man without a dollar must do what the man with a dollar tells him to do. So get your dollar.

ANOTHER Atlantic flight. Bert Hassell started yesterday morning for Stockholm, Sweden.

Soon the public will feel about ordinary ocean flights with no lovely lady attached as the London bus conductor felt who said to the lady going upstairs holding her skirts tightly: "Legs is no treat to me, ma'am."

MERELY flying across the ocean in a dangerous plane is no longer important. As Henry Ford says, the important thing is to produce a plane that will make ocean flying absolutely safe.

FORTY-FOUR tire manufacturers will guarantee their products, material and workmanship for the life of the tire.

A more valuable idea would be to guarantee lower, fairer retail prices. It is ridiculous to pay 40 per cent more than a tire costs to the man that rolls it across the floor. It doesn't even need to be wrapped up. Expensive distribution is the curse of business.

MEXICAN firing squads are still busy. San Luis Potosi reports seven "insurgents" executed. Fourteen more insurgents were killed in open fighting.

'SORE TOE' PUT BACK IN JAIL

Jack McKenzie and his sore toe went back to jail this afternoon.

Judge Harry H. Rowand revoked the parole granted the confessed vote-cheater Thursday when, at a special hearing at 1 p. m., he found that "the facts have been grossly misrepresented."

The court exonerated Congressman Harry A. Estep, attorney for McKenzie, by declaring that McKenzie had likewise "misrepresented the facts" to him.

DRINKING CHARGED

Acting District Attorney Andrew T. Park produced witnesses who testified that McKenzie gave a false address to parole officers, that he appeared at the jail to get personal belongings Thursday afternoon "obviously under the influence of liquor," and that while he had told the court he wanted to get expert treatment of his sore toe, actually he planned to return to work in Louis Frishman's upper Fifth avenue clothing store tomorrow.

McKenzie, who now must serve the remaining three months of a six months' sentence for ballot frauds, enjoyed 27 hours of freedom under the parole. Judge Rowand had granted the parole after Attorney Estep declared that McKenzie was suffering from an infected foot, caused by a barrel of meat crushing it while McKenzie was working in the jail kitchen.

It was after Dr. C. J. Ellis, jail physician, declared over the long distance telephone from his summer home in Dunkirk, N. Y., that McKenzie had not been injured that an investigation of the parole was begun. Informed of Dr. Ellis' statement, Judge Rowand immediately ordered parole officers to bring McKenzie before him.

SLIGHT INFLAMATION

At the hearing today, Acting Jail Physician D. I. Kirk declared that McKenzie was suffering from "a slightly inflammatory" condition of a big toe, caused from an ingrowing nail. The injury, he said, would not be noticeable at all within a day or two.

James Hammond, guard, and Paul Beiswenger, clerk, at the jail testified that when McKenzie returned for clothing Thursday afternoon he showed "unmistakable evidence that he had been drinking."

Louis Frishman, proprietor of a clothing store at 1337 Fifth avenue, declared that McKenzie had completed arrangements to return to his position at the store Saturday morning. McKenzie has been employed by him for 18 years, he said.

Parole officers informed Judge Rowand that they had located McKenzie today with the greatest difficulty because he gave a false address to them.

Attorney Estep apologized to the court.

NEW GAINS HERE FOR HOOVER

Continuing to gather in the suburban and rural voters, Hoover led Smith yesterday in The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's straw vote, 139 to 84.

Analysis of nation-wide straw vote on Page 1, second section; detailed results by states on Page 2.

However, Smith still leads in the county totals, to date, having 1,529 votes to Hoover's 1,325.

As a sample of how the surburban and rural voters acted in 1924, yesterday's straw voters indicated that at the last presidential election they gave Coolidge 126, La-Follette 45 and Davis 26. The Coolidge vote was about evenly distributed between men and women, but as for the other candidates, twice as many women voted for Davis as men and twice as many men voted for LaFollette as women.

Districts that have not received cards are urged to have patience. Every district in the state is being canvassed, and those communities around Pittsburgh, from which center the work is spreading out, who have not had their chance will get it ere long.

Double postal cards, offering a secret vote on this most important and interesting election, are being dispatched by the tens of thousands. A large percentage of the registered voters in each section will be canvassed, and the results are being published daily in the Sun-Telegraph.

Throughout the entire nation this movement is under way, directed by the Hearst newspapers, and it has already assumed proportions as the largest and most exhaustive and most definite straw ballot ever undertaken.

POLLY SENDS RADIOGRAM, GENE, ABOARD SHIP, GRINS

ABOARD THE S. S. MAURETANIA, AT SEA, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—(Signed) "Polly."

Gene Tunney was happy aboard the Cunard liner Mauretania today as he read and reread a radiogram which ended that way.

It didn't sound like a love message as it was received in staccato dots and dashes in the Mauretania's radio room, but one glance at the retired heavyweight champion's beaming smile as he read the brief message was enough to assure an onlooker that Miss Mary Josephine (Polly) Lauder, his $50,000,000 fiancee, still loved Gene and had said it with static.

A deluge of flowers, gifts and telegrams greeted Tunney aboard ship. Among the wires was one from Tom Heeney, whom Tunney defeated in his last fight and who married shortly afterwards.

"Having taken the plunge myself," Heeney wired, "I can anticipate the happiness in store for you." The Heeneys sail on their honeymoon today.

AIRMAN DROPS WREATH

Twenty miles out, at Sandy Hook, a small English Avian biplane circled over the Mauretania and Fred Darius Benham dropped a wreath on deck almost at Tunney's feet,

RAIN HALTS HASSELL'S FLIGHT TO SWEDEN

COCHRANE, Ontario, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Rain interfered with the plans of Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer to leave today on the second leg of their trans-Atlantic flight in the monoplane Greater Rockford.

Unsettled weather prevails over the route, according to weather reports supplied to the fliers by Toronto meteorological office officials.

The take-off for Mt. Evans, Greenland, was postponed. Heavy ran fell during the night and conditions were unsettled this forenoon.

The aviators made the 800-mile jump from Rockford to Cochrane in 7 hours and 49 minutes. They left Rockford yesterday at 6:40 a. m. (central time) and arrived here at 2:29 p. m. (Canadian time). A large part of the second leg of the flight will be made over open water. The route will carry the daring airmen over James Bay, southern extension of Hudson Bay, near Moose Factory, from there over virtually uninhabited land to the promontory of Labrador at Cape Chidley, and thence to the Mt. Evans Observatory, Greenland, where the plane will take on gasoline and oil.

ICELAND TO STOCKHOLM

After flying from Mt. Evans to Reykjavik, Iceland, the aviators will attempt the long hop to Stockholm.

The entire population of Cochrane was on hand when the Greater Rockford hove into sight here. The plane made a perfect landing on an improvised runway at a point three miles north of Cochrane.

Both Hassell and Cramer were in fine condition and confident of success in their daring venture. They said they had no trouble in locating Cochrane, at the junction point of the Canadian National Railways and the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. The two lines of steel furnished a splendid guide for the fliers.

Board of Trade officials arranged the welcome for the fliers. The town band was there in all its glory and blared forth martial airs.

WEATHER STORMY

Hassell and Cramer said that weather conditions had been ideal for the first 300 miles of the first leg of the flight. During the last 300 miles the plane ran into the edges of storms. A thunderstorm was encountered at Cochrane but it did not interfere with the landing. The Illinois airmen believe that if

Estep Figures in "Sore Toe" and Carelli Cases

Jack McKenzie's "sore" toe, which won temporary freedom for him, will go down in history along with the blunder of the District Attorney's office three years ago in the famous Carelli case, it was pointed out today.

When Albert Carelli, member of the "Blue Bandanna Gang," was pardoned for murder, it was declared the District Attorney had not been notified that an application for a pardon was pending, but when the State Pardon Board looked up its records it was found that Harry A. Estep, then chief assistant district attorney, had receipted for the formal notice.

Estep afterward said that he affixed his signature, thinking it was but a routine matter, and gave the case no further thought because in the intervening 10 days before the Carelli case came up before the pardon board he was suffering from tonsilitis. Estep, now a member of Congress, figures in the "sore toe" case as McKenzie's attorney.

CORONER PROBES FATAL NEW CASTLE ACCIDENT

Caldwell of the automobile mishap at Parkstown Corners, last Tuesday, in which Miss Julia Simon and her sister, Mrs. Mary Farrell, both of Toledo, O., lost their lives, has disclosed that the machine left the concrete road and upset as the attempt was made to get back on the pavement. Of the four other persons in the car, Mrs. Mary Simon, mother of the dead women, continues in a serious condition in Shenango Valley Hospital. Charles Simon, her son, is still confined to the New Castle Hospital. Another son, John Simon, has recovered sufficiently to permit him to leave.

JACK ET AL

Jack McKenzie, who exhibits his injured toe in this picture, went back to jail today when Judge Rowand revoked the parole granted the Third Ward vote-cheater yesterday. The court decided that the plea that McKenzie's injured toe needed hospital treatment was misrepresentation.

DRYS RALLY TO FIGHT PENNINGTON OUSTER

Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington shall remain at his post in Pittsburgh and any further attempt to remove him from office will bring the entire strength of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, the state W. C. T. U., church organizations and dry alw enforcement advocates in a protest to the highest authority in Washington.

This was the challenge proclaimed today by Pennington's supporters who declared that the effort to oust him was a plot to weaken the prosecution at the trial of 167 politicians, bootleggers and police officials now under indictment by the Federal grand jury.

SEE TRIAL PLOT

The reported threat to turn the city and county over to the Smith forces in the Presidential election if Republican national officials failed to remove Pennington was declared to be a mere subterfuge. The real object, it was asserted, was to defeat the ends of justice when the 167 indicted men are brought to trial this fall.

With Pennington out of office here and his agents discharged from the service or scattered about the country, it was pointed out, important witnesses would be absent when the cases would be brought

Morin Ineligible For Job Held By Pennington

Congressman John M. Morin, reported being urged as John D. Pennington's successor, at present is ineligible for the post of prohibition administrator. At the office of the Internal Revenue Department it was stated applicants for that position must take a civil service examination and that there are several now on the eligible list. They would outrank Morin, even should he pass the examination and be placed on the list.

Shooting Of Woman Mystery

CHARLEROI, Pa., Aug. 17. —"I think my mother shot herself," declared Angelina Bono, 17, who is held here in connection with the serious wounding of Mrs. Josephine Bono, 33, who was found in her home with a gunshot wound in the abdomen.

In the woman's statement at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital she said she could not explain how she was shot. After examining the girl and the husband, the police say they believe the woman, who was in ill health, attempted suicide.

Wheeling Plane Factory Set To Operate

ANTHONY H. G. FOKKER, famous Dutch airplane designer, has established near Wheeling a new factory which will soon be turning out two huge $60,000 "ships" weekly. Equipped with three 400-horsepower engines, these planes will carry two pilots and twelve passengers.

Wheeling has just acquired a remarkable park, almost as big as Schenley and Highland Parks combined, which is being used to teach natural history, art and music. One can spend a week-end there, go on "nature walks" under the guidance of naturalists, hear a lecture and a concert, and get supper, lodging and breakfast for a total of $1.80.

These and other interesting things will be described in a page of news and pictures of Wheeling in The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph of next Sunday.

WALES' ADVENTURES REVEALED IN NEW BOOK

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The manuscript of "Edward P.,"—the life story of the Prince of Wales—arrived here today. The bulky document was guarded almost as carefully as the personal presence of His Royal Highness when he steps on American shores, and on account of his recent visits on this side of the Atlantic the biography is exciting greater interest than any book in recent years.

"Edward P" is described as a faithful delineation of the character of the Prince, giving in detail the day-by-day story of the life of this most popular member of any royal family in the world today. Written in vivid style, it depicts the life of the Prince, his royal duties, his patriotic service to his people, his sportsmanship and his adventures afield. The book will be published serially in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, beginning next Sunday, and will appear daily. At the same time it will appear in other Hearst newspapers.

'Limps' Back to Jail -:- -:- On a "Sore Big Toe"

HARRY A. ESTEP

"IT HURTS"

Jack McKenzie, confessed Third Ward vote-cheater, "limped" back to the county jail today upon revocation of the parole granted him yesterday on Counselor Estep's plea that Jack's big toe, hurt in jail, needed hospital treatment.

'SORE' TOE OPENED— THESE GRILLED DOORS

"IT'S TRIVIAL"

Dr. Ellis, jail physician, said th injury is "trivial" and Judge Rowand ordered an investigation of McKenzie's prominent digit. The question seemed to have been "When is a sore toe sore enough to open those rather forbidding doors of the county jail?"

JUDGE HARRY H. ROWAND—

A BARREL FALLS

Judge Rowand sentenced McKenzie to the jail for six months in May after McKenzie had pleaded guilty. Now, after serving half of the sentence, he was liberated because of an injury that developed after a barrel of meat, it is explained, fell on his toe in the jail.

GangKills, Sets Fire To Woman

International News Service.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Aug. 17.—Shot through the face and then burned alive, the body of a young woman, apparently about 25 years old, reposed in an undertaking establishment here today.

All attempts to identify her have failed.

Police first believed the body was that of Adeline Zaccard, alleged sweetheart of Angelo Francisco, who was shot to death in an automobile near Mount Prospect, Ill., yesterday. Francisco was believed to have participated in the West McHenry (Ill.) bank robbery on Monday and to have been killed by town guards who answered the alarm.

The police theory was that Miss Zaccard had been "taken for a ride" by members of the slain Francisco's gang to seal her lips against betrayal of the other four bank robbers.

But last night, four members of Miss Zaccard's family, including her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Zaccard, viewed the remains and failed to recognize the victim.

The woman had been shot through the jaw, but a coroner's physician declared the wound would not have caused death. It is believed while she was still unconscious her captors poured gasoline over her clothing and set her afire.

WORKMAN, STRICKEN BY INTENSE HEAT, DIES

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 17.—Stricken by the intense heat while at work at the Standard Tank Car Company plant Wednesday, John Gerry, 33, of Masury, died in Buhl Hospital yesterday.

to trial on the Government's prosecution would fall flat.

"This shall not be," declared Mrs. Ella M. George, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, at her home in Beaver Falls today.

"Commander Pennington must remain to carry through the work he has so courageously begun and he can rely on the support of every W. C. T. U. member in Pennsylvania to stand by him and see that no obstacles are thrown in his way. The people are thoroughly aroused and will carry their protests to the highest authority."

"—WITHOUT FAVOR"

"If Commander Pennington were just an ordinary man he would have been out of Pittsburgh long ago," said the Rev. Dr. D. E. Cruea, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League. "The reason Pennington has been under constant fire is that he believes prohibition can be enforced without fear or favor. This is the policy that has drawn the fire. He is not content to just prosecute the little fellow. The big fellows also fall under his hammer.

"This political scare about Allegheny county going for Al Smith is all bluff. In the background of this picture can be seen the booze ring of Pittsburgh looking forward to this fall when 167 cases come to trial. Of course they want Pennington out of Pittsburgh. Why not? This Hoover-Smith election is a small matter to them.

"The good people of this county are for Commander Pennington remaining in Pittsburgh, Allegheny county for Al Smith notwithstanding.

"The Republican leaders are not going to make the colossal blunder of removing the prohibition enforcement officer at this particular time. They are too wise."

The Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson, chairman of the East Liberty Ministers' Committee, said its members as well as the individuals in the various church congregations were ready to join in immediate action to thwart the reported plot against Pennington. The Rev. Dr. N. H. Sanner, district superintendent of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church; J. C. Downs, editor of "The United Presbyterian," and other churchmen declared that the political threat against Pennington a mere bluff to effect his removal, and added that the independent voters of the county were not so easily fooled.

36 CTS. OPENS GATUN LOCK; AUTHOR SWIMMING CANAL

GATUN, Canal Zone, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—For the first time in the history of the Panama Canal the huge Gatun locks have been opened for the passage of a single individual. The individual was Richard Halliburton, American author, who on Tuesday started to swim the canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a distance of about 50 miles.

Four sets of great steel lock gates, weighing 1,500 tons each, had to be opened yesterday and closed to lift the swimmer from the Atlantic sea level 85 feet to Gatun Lake, and three lock chambers, containing 10,000,000 cubic feet of water each, had to be filled and emptied.

It required as much mechanical labor to bring Halliburton, the lightest "ship," in canal history, through the locks as it did for the 40,000-ton airplane carrier Saratoga, the heaviest.

Charges for the passage were made in accordance with the ton rate and Halliburton, weighing 150 pounds, paid just 36 cents.

Halliburton yesterday entered the alligator-infested Gatun Lake, accompanied by an Army sharpshooter as guard.

The author is swimming during the daylight hours and rests at night. He expects to reach Panama in about six days.

'NO CHANCE FOR DRY LAW,' HE CLAIMS

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Enlistment of every Federal employes as an aid to prohibition enforcement officers in detecting violators is advocated by Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy under President Wilson.

"If a President wants to enforce the law, every man he appoints to office ought to be told: 'You must enforce the laws of this country and not wink at violations,'" he said, in charging that prohibition enforcement had never had a fair trial under the Republican administration.

"Of course, I would not stop a naval battle to take up the chase of a rum runner," he continued, "or put the Navy as a whole into prohibition enforcement.

"But if a naval aviator sees the law disobeyed, let him report it. Every customs officer on the border ought to be on the lookout for liquor importation.

"Every federal employe should be told: 'You must do your job first but, incidentally, if you find anything wrong going on you must report it.'"

He said that Herbert Hoover's promise that if elected he would name a fact-finding commission to probe the prohibition question was "a good way to dodge."

Mr. Daniels made his views known at Democratic National headquarters here when he stopped off on his way home from Albany, where he conferred with Gov. Smith. He would not discuss his conference with the Governor.

GENE GRINS AT POLLY'S RADIO

from his friend, Charles V. Bob, wealthy capitalist.

It was inscribed "For Gene from Charley Bob." Gene picked the wreath up and waved it at the airman.

Not so breath taking as Tunney's reception at the dock but just as cordial was the welcome given him by his fellow passengers. Among those with whom he struck up an immediate acquaintance are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Durant, the latter a daughter of E. F. Hutton, capitalist.

According to his present plans, Tunney will, upon landing, go to Dublin to attend the Tailteann games as the guest of President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, and John McCormack, the tenor. He will then return to England where he will join Thornton Wilder, novelist, and proceed on the much heralded walking tour of Europe.

Efforts, in England, to match Tunney with the non-retired George Bernard Shaw have not yet been completely successful.

SEES FIANCEE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—James J. Tunney, private citizen, formerly Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world, is on the high seas today, bound for Europe for his projected walking trip with Thornton Wilder, novelist. Gene, as flustered as any other private citizen, sailed yesterday aboard the Mauretania.

Before sailing Tunney motored to Bridgeport, Conn., where he met his fiancee, Miss Mary Josephine Lauder, who made a hurried trip from Maine to see him off, and returned with him to New York. They were guests at a luncheon given by Mrs. George Lauder, Jr., mother of the prospective bride. Miss Lauder did not accompany him to the ship.

"Before I do anything else," he told the reporters, "I wish to say that I do not want any questions asked. There are probably 80 questions each of you want to ask. As there are 30 of you here, that makes 2,400—too many.

"I have not in any way connected myself to any business proposition and stories that I have done so are without foundation. I am not considering what I will do until I return from my trip. All reports to the contrary are erroneous.

"I hope to have a pleasant time abroad and will have if the public will let me. That's all."

LOSES FIGHT FOR HUSBAND

Mrs. Mary F. Barker, of 310 Jucunda street, Knoxville, who brought habeas corpus proceedings to get possession of her husband, Robert H. Barker, lost her case today and was ordered to cease interrupting witnesses on threat of being ejected from the courtroom.

Judge Thomas D. Carnahan, who held the hearing, signed an order remanding the husband to the custody of his brother, Samuel S. Barker, of William street, South Side.

It was brought out in the testimony that on November 6, 1926, Robert H. Barker had sued his wife for divorce, charging cruelty. In June, this year, he was committed to Mayview Hospital, but since had been discharged in the custody of his brother, with whom he had been living after beginning the divorce action against his wife. Witnesses testified that Barker is now of sound mind and able to manage his affairs.

necessary," he declared. "The defendant is entitled to a parole because he is a first offender, the sole support of his mother, and has served more than three months of a six months sentence."

Judge Rowand agreed with Attorney Estep, but ordered McKenzie to complete the entire sentence in jail for his false representations.

McKenzie, a member of the election board of the Eighteenth District, Third Ward, pleaded guilty to willful negligence, and on May 9 was sentenced to six months in jail. Judge Rowand's parole was for four years.

The plea which won McKenzie his freedom was based on the recital that McKenzie, while learning to be a jail cook, had been the victim of a barrel of meat. It seems this barrel fell on what has developed into the most prominent toe in Pittsburgh, and infection set in.

GILDA GRAY'S HUSBAND ORDERS ANNULMENT SUIT

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—Gil Boag and Gilda Gray have come to the forks in the road. Boag is to seek annulment of his marriage to the famed dancer and film actress.

That was the announcement today of Attorney Milton M. Golden, who said he had received a cablegram from Boag, now in Berlin, directing him to institute action in the Los Angeles courts at once.

Attorney Golden stated that the basis of the action would be charges of "prenuptial fraud."

Boag formerly was a New York cabaret proprietor and Miss Gray's manager. His wife is believed to be in London, where she is reported to have signed a British film contract.

Property valued at $1,000,000 will be involved in the action, according to Attorney Golden.

The couple were married in 1924. Rumors of marital difficulties between Boag and the dancer have been current for some time. It was reported several months ago that Boag and his wife had agreed on a property settlement.

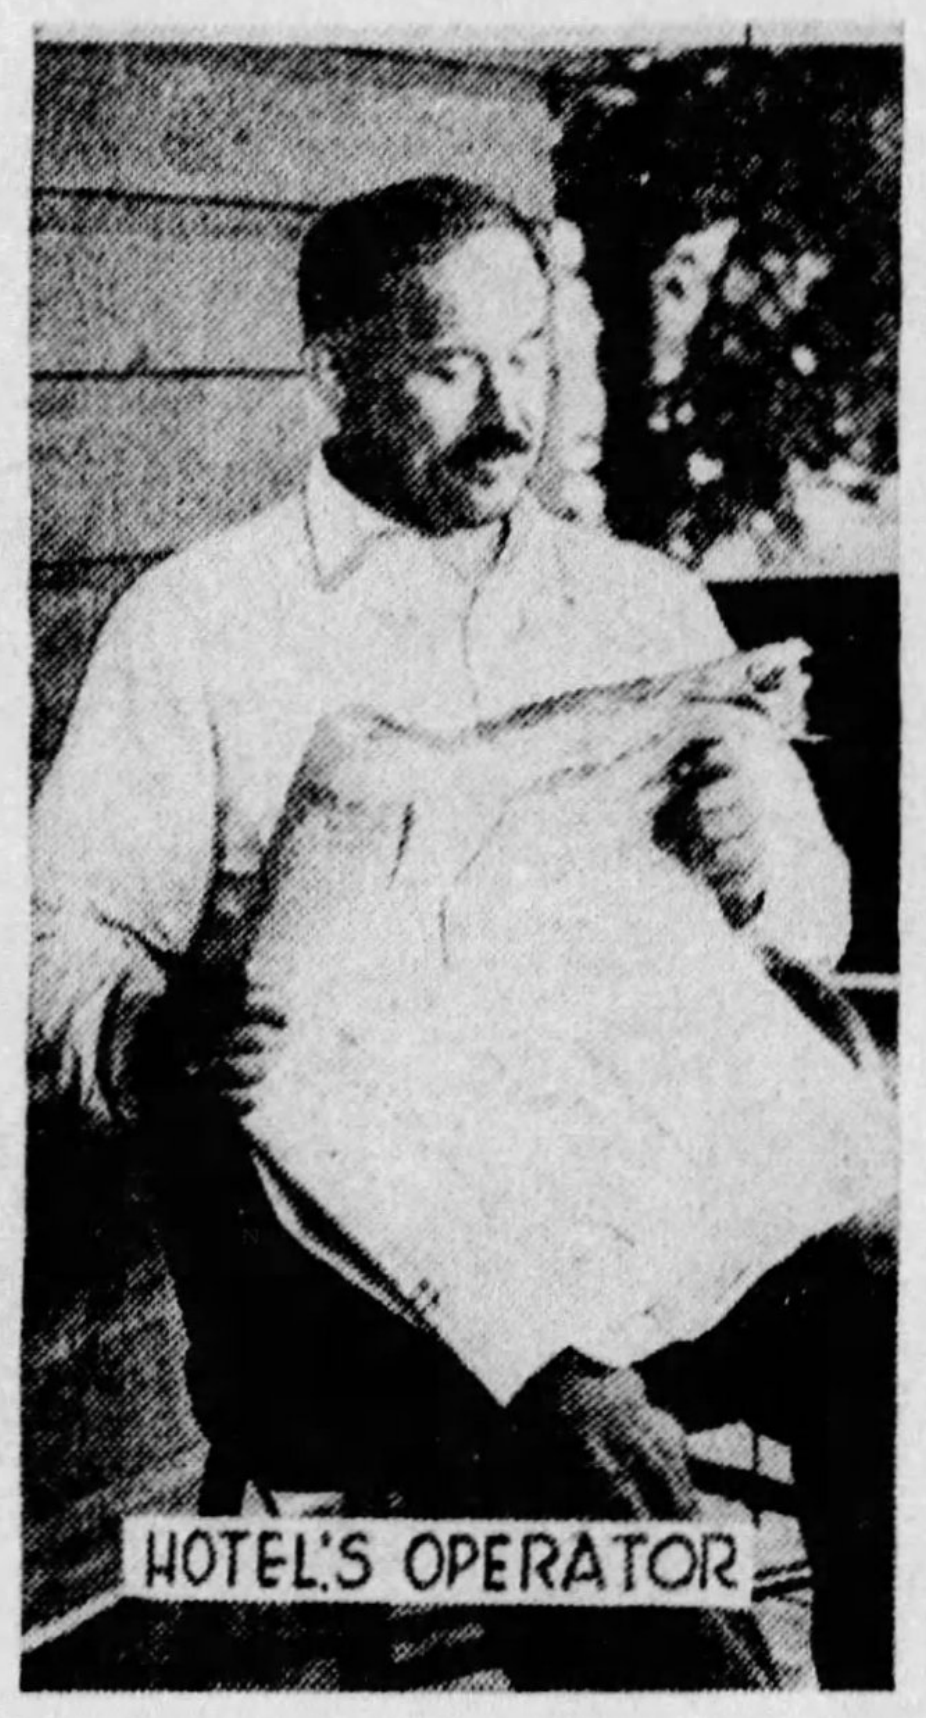
"No Booze for Sale!" -:- Can Liquor Be Bought at Rev. Straton's Hotel? -:- His Son Guest There

STERLING FOREST HOTEL
THE HOTEL



DOUGLAS STRATON

THIS THE BAR

OWNER

The Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton owns the Sterling Forest Hotel, Green Lake, N. Y., and leases it.

SCENE

This is the scene of the trouble. A reporter bought liquor—a quart of it!—across the bar, he told Dr. Straton. Dr. Straton, who recently said things about Gov. Smith and may debate him over it, was embarrassed. Now, he asks authorities to take up the probe in Orange (N. Y.) county.

"NO!"

William Hecht leases the hotel. He sold no liquor, he insists, so he and Dr. Straton are, as it were, just deadlocked in the matter.

DOUG. STRATON

Douglas, son of Dr. Straton, is a guest of the hotel and was when the liquor is said to have been purchased.

"CONTEMPTIBLE"

"Contemptible, ghastly frame-up," says Dr. Straton, thinking, perhaps, of his differences with Gov. Smith. He warned Hecht not to sell liquor, he says, but Hecht says he didn't sell liquor and, anyhow, he sold no liquor. While words flew, the bottle, given to Dr. Straton, disappeared!

SMILE?

And Gov. Smith, attacked by Dr. Straton in his church, can afford, at this stage to smile and still not be a poor sport. For Dr. Straton has two cases on his hands to settle.

LEVINE IN PARIS-U.S. AIR RACE

International News Service.

PARIS, Aug. 17.—Charles A. Levine, American flyer and owner of the trans-Atlantic plane Columbia, is a figure in a sensational race among fliers here to be the first to hop off for the United States and make a non-stop flight.

Levine said he was going to London today to arrange to get trans-Atlantic weather reports from the British meteorological office. If he succeeds he will return here to resume preparations for the flight. He hopes to get away before the first of September although the Junkers plane he bought at Dessau won't be delivered to him until August 24. That would allow only a few days for trials.

If, in the meantime, French or other airmen hop off and succeed in reaching New York, Levine said he would change his plans. In that event, he declared, he might try a distance or duration record by attempting a non-stop flight to the Orient.

Bert Acosta will pilot the Junkers plane. Miss Mabel Boll, the "queen of diamonds," will accompany the two men if they try a trans-Atlantic flight, but it is doubtful if she would do so if they attempt a sky journey to India.

SHOT BRINGS 3 BOYS' ARREST IN ROBBERY

A revolver which James Lennon, 12, of 1534 Compromise street, is alleged to have fired near his home led to his arrest in connection with the robbery Wednesday night of the home of P. J. McFarland, 112 Compromise street. Two revolvers, a watch and some trinkets were stolen. McFarland recognized the revolver. This morning Patrolman Thomas English went to Lennon's home and arrested the boy, who, it was said, was sleeping with a revolver under his pillow. Later police arrested Edward Roberts, 13, of 500 Compromise street, and Mike Munich, 12, of 72 Compromise street. All were turned over to Juvenile Court.

Dems Plan Farmer Bank

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Wall street was stirred today by apparently well-founded reports that the Democratic campaign managers are seriously considering one of the most daring plans of appeal for the farm vote ever suggested in American politics—a plan to organize a New York bank with $50,000,000 capital to extend easy credit to the agricultural regions for the marketing of the now maturing crops.

A. F. C. Fiske, well known in the financial district for his connection with one of the largest insurance companies in the country, acknowledged today that "informal discussion" of such a plan had occurred.

John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and William F. Kenny, wealthy New York contractor, the principal financial backer of the Smith pre-convention campaign, are named in Wall Street gossip as two of those interested in the preliminary discussions of the project.

Raskob declined to discuss the Wall Street reports further than to affirm that a suggestion had been made to him by farm leaders earlier this week that wealthy friends of Gov. Smith league together in some plan to assist the farmers during the campaign.

Should the bank be organizd with a capital of $50,000,000, it would make financial history as the largest original capital of any American bank. A number of banks have larger capital investments, but they represent mergers and the pyramiding of years of profits rather than merely the original nest egg.

WET REGAINS LEAD IN OHIO PRIMARY

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Rectification of two mistakes by county boards of elections in tabulating figures in Tuesday's primary, has placed Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati, again in the lead for the Democratic short term senatorial nomination after first dropping him behind Senator Cyrus Locher of Cleveland.

Latest figures give Hunt an unofficial plurality of 445.

Discovery of the two discrepancies, however, and the possibility that more might come to light with further rechecks emphasized that the complete official count will be necessary to determine the winner.

ERROR OF 10,000

Hunt was leading by more than 10,000 votes yesterday on the face of almost complete unofficial returns to the Associated Press, when Cuyahoga county election officials discovered an error of 10,000 in Hunt's vote. This dropped the Cincinnatian 76 votes behind Senator Locher.

Last night, however, election officials in Allen county discovered the Allen county vote had not been added to the Lima City vote for Hunt, giving him 520 more votes than previously reported. This swung Hunt into the lead again. The unofficial totals standing: Hunt, 93,469; Locher, 93,024.

Hunt campaigned as a liberal, while Locher was endorsed by the Ohio Anti-Saloon League.

Belgian's Poisoning Denied

PARIS, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Reports that poison had been found in the viscera of Capt. Alfred Lowenstein, the Belgian financier, who was killed when he fell or stepped from an airplane 4,000 feet above the English Channel, were denounced as "pure fantasies" yesterday by experts who were analyzing the organs.

The report was originally attributed to Dr. Paul in a dispatch received a few days ago from Boulogne. He denied its authenticity and was joined in that denial by Dr. Kohn-Abrest, the latter being the analyist appointed by the Boulogne court. Both said that their work was not finished.

"Up to now there is nothing to support the poison theory," said Dr. Paul. "I never said there was nor that there was any indication of a toxic condition in the intestines, for the very good reason that Dr. Kohn-Abrest, with whom I discussed the subject, will not have finished his experiments for another fortnight. It will be a week after that before my report is ready."

Dr. Kohn-Abrest issued a formal statement describing himself as the sole expert appointed by the Boulogne court and saying that the published reports anent poison traces were pure fantasies. He added that he would terminate his tests in about eight days, then prepare his report and communicate it through regular channels to the judicial authorities.

CURTIS SET TO HEAR "NEWS"

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—His 68 years well seasoned by the sun and winds of the western plains, Senator Curtis, of Kansas, has given a ready assent to the call of his party for that heavy role of campaign "stumping" on which it usually relies in its vice presidential candidate.

Tomorrow Senator Curtis will be notified formally of his nomination by the Republicans for vice president. Sunday he will set forth on the campaign and his first trip carries the veteran half way across the continent. His trail then will lead first to the East, thence South, and finally back into his homeland in the Middle West and Northwest.

Arriving hosts of Republican leaders to the Kansas capital for notification ceremonies drew the Senator down to headquarters today, where he could visit more freely. Among those expected today was Senator Fess, of Ohio, temporary chairman of the Republican convention, who will inform Senator Curtis formally on behalf of the convention of his nomination.

10 DEAD AS STORM SWEEPS 4 SOUTHERN STATES

FLOOD CRACKS DAM; RUIN HEAVY

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Four southeastern states counted 10 dead and great property damage in the wake of storms and floods today.

In the wake of receding waters railroads, telegraph and telephone companies were struggling against heavy odds to restore communication lines which were broken by raging waters in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Property owners in those states contemplated thousands of acres of wrecked farm land, destroyed and damaged homes and buildings, as well as unestimated bridge and highway damage which cannot be restored for months.

While showers were forecast for the affected states today, the drenching rains and storm winds of the last few days apparently had subsided.

Probably the greatest menace obtained along the Broad River in South Carolina, which is the drainage channel for the western edge of North Carolina as well, where a Lockhart Power Company dam had already burst near Union, S. C.

The structure, 1,000 feet long and 18 feet high, cracked at midnight, threatening as a result the Broad River valley dams to Columbia. While officials said there was no danger to residents in the valley, some 50 families were declared by an officer at Union, S. C., to have moved to safety in the territory immediately below Lockhart.

THE DEAD:

As communication was restored last night and today, reports came in of great damage throughout the Piedmont areas and loss of life was believed definitely fixed as 10. They were Myrtle Young, 11, Hickory, N. C., drowned; Guy Young, 9, Hickory, N. C., drowned; Arvin Blythe, Hendersonville, N. C., drowned; John W. Jones, Ashley Heights county, N. C., tornado victim; unidentified man, Ashley Heights, tornado; L. Marvel Simms, 50, Ariel, S. C., drowned; Ballenger Hudson, Ariel, S. C., drowned; Jesse Dove, Roanoke, Va., drowned; A. A. Craft, Springwood, Va., drowned; Miss Ethel Allen, Warrenton, Va., dropped dead of fright while crossing Roanoke River bridge over flood.

SWITCHING DEVICE MADE HERE TO BE EXPLAINED

How a new railroad switching device invented in Pittsburgh will save railroads millions of dollars and shippers much time, will be explained with an illustrated lecture in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce on September 17, according to William L. McKinney, assistant traffic secretary of the Chamber.

The new system, developed by the Union Switch and Signal Company, has been installed in the Boston and Maine Railroad yard at Somerville, Mass., and, by eliminating the use of switchmen, riders and inspectors, will handle 1,000,000 cars a year at a saving of $800,000, according to a statement issued by the Swissvale company.

In the Illinois Central Railroad yards at Chicago the new system has reduced the cost of handling cars from $3.6 to 50.8 the statement asserts. The new device is an arrangement of brake shoes located along and parallel to the tracks. Compressed air, working on a piston, forces the shoes against the car wheels, producing a braking effect similar to human hands.

THRONGS VIEW EXHIBITS

KITTANNING, Pa., Aug. 17.—The Armstrong County Fair, held near Ford City, under the auspices of Bowser Bros. and Company of Ford City, which opened yesterday, will close tomorrow. More than 10,000 people were on the grounds yesterday. Tomorrow's crowd is expected to exceed that. The fair remains open day and night. The agricultural, industrial, poultry, fruit and stock exhibits surpassed those of other years.

The races were the best ever held here, a novelty being a race between a horse and an automobile. The auto won by a scant margin in a distance of 75 yards. Cups were given by various banks and individuals to the winners. Purses were about $300. Today's program consists of races and stunts day and night.

Town Moves from Oil Lamps to Electricity

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 17.—Independence, historic village west of Washington, which never even knew the convenience of natural gas for lighting purposes, having used oil lamps generally since they replaced the candle, is enjoying the comforts of electricity. Current was turned into the recently completed lines last night for the first time.

The village is one of the oldest in the county.

BEST TOWN HALL SITE IS SOUGHT

DESCRIPTIONS MUST GO WITH PROPOSALS

Definite information on four points should accompany suggestions as to town hall sites that may be made by citizens at the open meeting which the County Commissioners will hold Wednesday, August 22, at 2 p. m., to consider the project.

Those who make recommendations should be prepared to give:

The exact location,

The dimensions,

The parking facilities, and

The proximity to railroad sidings.

Some idea as to the price at which the land could be obtained should also be given.

The County Commissioners, it was stated, desire the co-operation and counsel of well-informed citizens in the selection of the site; but mere vague suggestions will not receive the consideration that will be given clean-cut definite proposals.

The citizens voted $6,000,000 of bonds for the town hall at the recent election, and the Commissioners feel that they should proceed with the utmost care in the expenditure of the money.

WILL PROBE PROPOSALS

Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the board of County Commissioners, said:

"Upon receipt of all suggested sites from persons who feel that the ones they are interested in will afford the necessary advantages for such a building, they shall immediately be turned over to Norman F. Brown, director of the County Department of Public Works, to make a survey and report.

"These suggested sites are solicited by the bord of county commissioners from the people in order that they may more freely participate in its future activity and thus encourage its purpose through civic pride and community interest.

"After all sites have been subject to an investigation by our engineers and the elimination process has been completed, the number of sites apparently suitable shall then be taken up by the board of County Commissioners and referred to our County Planning Commission.

"In the meantime I will arrange for a conference with the chairman of the town hall committee of the Chamber of Commerce—Mr. George Davison—in order that we may discuss the situation and go over the valuable data which this committee has procured through years of study."

"TOLD ME I COULD SHOOT," HUSBAND QUOTES VICTIM

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17.—In probably fatally shooting Abe Fickman, 35, a merchant of Thompson No. 1, Mick Burcik, 20, married since last November 1, said that he was merely carrying out the wishes of the victim.

Fickman is believed to be dying in the Uniontown Hospital. He was shot twice in the head and once in the chest.

Here is Burcik's story to the police, it was reported:

"Yes, I shot him and I am sorry now, but what was I to do? I loved my wife and when Fickman persisted in running around with her it was either his life or my happiness.

"A short time ago when he and my wife admitted friendly relations, Abe told me that if he ever ran around with my wife again that I could shoot him dead and that's what I tried to do.

"When I was told that he had been seen in Republic with my wife, I got mad—yes, I guess I went crazy.

"At any rate I got my gun and went to his store, where I told him I was going to give him just what he deserved and then fired four shots at him.

"My wife told me that Fickman, for whom she had worked as a clerk, had made love to her and that she couldn't live without him. Then I agreed to get a divorce, but she complained that she could not live without me.

"I went to Mrs. Fickman about the matter, but she said she would take her husband's word in preference to mine.

"Then the men in the mines kept telling me about seeing my wife and Fickman together. All these things unbalanced my mind, I guess, and that's why I shot Abe."

SHOCK VICTIM MAY RECOVER

CHHARLEROI, Pa., Aug. 17.—Eddie Stewart, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Stewart of North Charleroi, has fought through the fourth day of his battle for life after being burned by near contact with a 25,000-volt high tension line here Sunday. Charleroi-Monessen Hospital attaches declared the boy has a chance to live now, although he will be maimed.

He tried to touch the wire on a "dare" after climbing into the wire-nest of a high tension line tower, playmates say.

LUDLOW, AIR VIOLINIST, WEDS PIANIST'S SISTER

Here's a story of a radio romance in the studios of the National Broadcasting Company.

Godfrey Ludlow, nationally known radio artist and concert violinist, married Miss Bianca Gainsborg in New York just a week ago, it was learned today. Miss Gainsborg is the sister of Madame Lolita Cabrera Gainsborg, another radio artist who appears regularly as a pianist on programs with Ludlow. Keith McLeod, musical supervisor of the National Broadcasting Company, and also a radio pianist, was Ludlow's best man.

Ludlow was engaged to Miss Gainsborg for six months, he said, but the engagement was kept a secret. He first met Madame Gainsborg in the NBC studios and through her met the sister who now is his wife.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Mellow Days of Golden Fall Far Lovelier for Weddings Than Doubtful Sunshine of June

IN September the days are apt to be a bit too reminiscent of summer weeks that have lingered too long. But by October there is a new world—or at least a world gowned in robes of burnished gold with splashes of scarlet and veiled in amethyst mists. Golden October with its mellow days has always seemed to me a far lovelier month for a wedding than June. And when one names a June wedding date one can never tell whether the sun will condescend to shine or not. Don't you remember last June it rained just about every day?

Now all this eulogy of October was suggested by a wedding date I have just heard of, and of course the date is in October—October 8 to be specific. That's the day Eleanor Baton, daughter of the George Scott Batons, of South Graham street, has named for her marriage to Edwin F. Scheetz, son of the Henry F. Scheetzes, of Germantown, Philadelphia. Their engagement was announced, don't you remember, in May?

Eleanor has decided to be married in Christ Methodist Episcopal Church. And a reception at the Twentieth Century Club, I believe, will follow the ceremony.

CATHERINE LONGENECKER, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Longenecker, of St. James street, is now at Bay Head with her aunt, Mrs. James H. Reed, Jr. Catherine's engagement was announced, if I remember correctly, in July. And James Bennett Walker, son of the junior Hay Walkers, of Edgeworth, is her fiance. Catherine will be back in the city by the first of September.

SEPTEMBER 1 will find a great many society folks back in the city, although there will be some who will not wander home I dare say until October.

The James H. Childs and their daughter, Alice, will be back from York Harbor by early September. Alice has been planning, I believe, a fall wedding. Her engagement to Oliver P. Nicola, Jr., son of the Oliver P. Nicolas, was made known in December, don't you remember?

JUST when most folks are beginning to think of coming back, there are a few Pittsburghers who are just leaving, and leaving to be gone for several months.

The F. R. Dravos sailed yesterday on the Mauretania for Europe.

THE A. Fleming Fells, of Kinsman road, are leaving today by motor for White Sulphur Springs. There they will stay two or three weeks with the Walter G. Mortlands, who are stopping at the Greenbrier. The Eugene W. Pargnays, Mrs. Fell's sister and brother-in-law, with their niece, Clodagh McCune, are also at the Greenbrier, you know.

On Tuesday when the John W. Grants, of Atlanta, gave one of the largest buffet luncheons of the White Sulphur season, the Mortlands and Pargnays and Clodagh were among the guests, word has reached us.

THE Alexander Jay Wurtses, who were married during the holidays, are entertaining a number of their relatives and friends from time to time, we hear, at Canoe Point, Bar Harbor.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES M'KINLEY, of Traymore avenue, Wilkinsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marie McKinley, and Edward McCridden, of Pittsburgh, which was solemnized yesterday morning in St. James' Catholic Church by the Rev. Mgr. Stephen Walsh. The bride wore white taffeta picoted with silver and her large picture hat was of white. She carried pink butterfly roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Evangeline McKinley, as her sister's maid of honor, appeared in pink crepe with ruffles edged with silver, and wore a pink picture hat. Her flowers were pink roses and blue delphinium. Lawrence Ruppel was best man. A breakfast at the Penn Lincoln Hotel followed the ceremony, with covers laid for 12. Mr. and Mrs. McCridden have left for an Eastern motor trip and after September 15 will be at home in Mt. Lebanon. Mrs. H. V. Cain, of Chicago, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Frank Wentling, of Cleveland, were out-of-town guests.

MISS MARION F. DEVLIN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Devlin, of Western avenue, North Side, and Norbert F. Braun, of Sharpsburg, were married Thursday morning at 8 o'clock in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, North Side. The Rev. Thomas Devlin was the celebrant.

Miss Devlin had as her only attendant Miss Margaret Carlin. John Wittman was best man, and the ushers were Lee Horstman and Lawrence Hohman.

Following the wedding was a breakfast in the Garden Tea Room, with covers laid for 50. Mr. and Mrs. Braun left last night for New York, where they will sail tomorrow for Europe. After October 15 they will be at home on Cochran road, Mt. Lebanon.

THE wedding of Miss Marion Louise Zinn, daughter of Mrs. Ella Zinn, of Superior avenue, Emsworth, and David James Hamilton, son of Mrs. Esther Hamilton, of Indiana, Pa., took place last night at 8 o'clock in the home of the bride, with the Rev. J. W. Springer, pastor of the Emsworth United Presbyterian Church, officiating. The bride, who was given away by her grandfather, James Stewart, wore orchid georgette and carried a shower of tea roses and lilies of the valley. Her cousin, Miss Ruth Zinn, of Bellevue, as maid of honor, appeared in peach georgette and carried Killarney roses. Robert D. Hamilton, of Philadelphia, was his brother's best man and the wedding music was played by Miss Lois Walker, of Indiana. A dinner followed the ceremony with covers laid for 10 at the bridal table. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will be at home in Ravenswood avenue, Bellevue, after a trip to Canada.

JUST what happened when You Took a Hand at playing the Market!

WHILE Wall Street professionals were anxiously waiting for loan reports and Federal reserve discount rates—while twenty million people were building up Wall Street to its record-breaking five million share days — Cosmopolitan got a trained writer, who is also a successful amateur speculator, to tell about his own experiences in the market so that you might see exactly what happens to your dollar when you start it rolling in there . . . either to multiply miraculously or to disappear altogether.

Don't miss Fred C. Kelly's inside story of Wall Street operations, in September Cosmopolitan. Written for the amateur by a successful amateur, it is another example of the alert editorial spirit that has attracted to Cosmopolitan the largest audience of intelligent, discriminating readers in America.

A Remarkable Mystery Novel

HELEN SIMPSON

"ENTER SIR JOHN," the mysterious story of an innocent murderess, was written by Clemence Dane — who wrote that famous play "A Bill of Divorcement"—in collaboration with Helen Simpson, whose new novel, "Cups, Wands and Swords," has created a sensation throughout England. It is typical again of Cosmopolitan's alert and progressive editorial policy that this mystery novel should appear in Cosmopolitan even before Miss Simpson's great novel has become known here.

CLEMENCE DANE

Fannie Hurst . . . writes a story of a romantic revolt against the Hossie-Frossie.

P. G. Wodehouse . . . tells the love story of a flat tire — London's champion saphead.

Irvin S. Cobb . . . writes an epic of heroism and tragedy on a flood-mad river.

Maurine Watkins . . . tells how Life played a bitter joke on a pretty girl.

Dr. Joseph Collins . . . sounds a warning to mothers who weaken their children's characters by loving them too much.

Michael Arlen . . . writes a novel of a good woman — an even better novel than "The Green Hat."

Ring W. Lardner . . . tells the story of a small town gas company clerk who aspired to be a poet.

P. C. Wren . . . relates a grim story of Poland under the Cossacks.

Peter B. Kyne . . . writes a story of a soldier and his dog in the World War.

OTHER stories, novels and outstanding features by Robert Hichens, Faith Baldwin, Sir Philip Gibbs, Montague Glass, Allan Swinton, Meade Minnigerode, Royal Brown, Harold Dearden, O. O. McIntyre, Edgar Lee Masters, A.S.M. Hutchinson, Gluyas Williams, Fish and Charles Dana Gibson.

"HIT-RUN" GIRL GIVES UP

CONFESSES DRIVING CAR KILLING 1, INJURING 3

Jennie Fitzpatrick, 20, of 5122 Carnegie street, admitted today, according to Chief Clerk Joseph L. Davidson of Coroner W. J. McGregor's office, that she drove the motor car which killed Mike Stefanik, of 969 East Ohio street, and injured three others, now patients in the Allegheny General Hospital, in East Ohio street, between Etna and Millvale, last Monday.

McGregor held Miss Fitzpatrick for the inquest on a charge of manslaughter and placed bail at $5,000, the highest amount ever demanded in an automobile homicide case.

The coroner also placed a manslaughter charge against Joseph Brizle, 5204 Keystone street, who is in jail, and fixed his bail at $5,000. Brizle is the owner of the car and is alleged to have been sitting beside the Fitzpatrick girl as she drove. Beatrice Fitzpatrick, 18, a sister of Jennie, is said to have been sitting in a rear seat. She will be a witness in the case.

7 IN DEATH RIDE FACE JAIL

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Following an investigation mine inspectors have recommended that seven survivors of the "death" ride in the Isabella mine of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company this week be prosecuted.

The "ride" of nine miners on an electric motor resulted in the deaths of two of them and serious injury to another.

W. H. Howarth, mine inspector, said the survivors would be charged with violating the state mining laws. He explained miners should ride in flat cars hauled by motors, but never on the motors themselves.

RAID WITH AX, MAGISTRATE URGES HOEY

Police Inspector James N. Hoey, recently appointed head of the downtown and Hill districts, received warm encouragement from Magistrate John Orie in Morals Court today in his drive against alleged immoral houses.

"Send a man back to these houses," Magistrate Orie told him after fining two women $100 each, "and if they show signs of opening up again smash all the furniture with axes. I'll back you up."

Irene Elkowitz, 23, 110 Miltenberger street, and Mary Davis, 24, of the Diana apartments, 2822 Fifth avenue, were each fined $100 by Magistrate Orie. The Elkowitz woman was charged with having Josephine Elkowitz, 15, of Clairton, an occupant of the house. She denied this, claiming the girl, her sister-in-law, was only visiting her.

PARTY LINES SMASHED IN NATIONAL POLL

CITIES TURN TO SMITH, COUNTRY TO HOOVER

By CHARLES N. WHEELER,
Noted Political Analyst

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Overshadowing all other aspects of the returns from the nation-wide straw vote being taken by the Hearst newspapers, was the clear indication in latest total tabulations that party lines are going to be smashed to smithereens throughout the nation.

The percentages of switches noted in the returns from all sections of the country is the most remarkable known in American politics in generations.

In some spots the switches amount to a revolution. In congested areas men are switching from Hoover to Smith by the wholesale while in adjacent territory touching the rural sector the women are switching from Smith to Hoover in even more amazing percentages.

Late returns also bear out the early indication that an upheaval is in the making in the Southern states. Tennessee and possibly one or two other of the "Solid South" commonwealths may break away from the Democratic party.

Indiana furnishes indication of the violence of the switches noted in today's tabulations. In 12 counties of that state 728 men switched from the Coolidge to Smith camp and 370 men from the Davis to the Hoover side. In the same territory 366 women left the G. O. P. to line up with Smith with 160 Democratic women announced their support of Hoover.

The tearing up of the old party covenants is even more marked in Illinois. In 69 counties, not including Chicago and Cook county, 1,017 men switched from the Republican to the Democratic circle and 377 Democratic men walked into the Hoover corral. In the same territory 858 women quit the G. O. P. for the New York governor, while 380 Democratic women left the donkey and made up with the elephant.

These switches, for the most part, are more marked in Northern Indiana and in districts adjacent to Chicago in Illinois than out in the country districts.

Mr. Hoover was still leading in the nation-wide poll.

The vote was:

	Men	Women	Total
Hoover	46,608	35,385	87,697
Smith	50,230	27,051	84,624

Of the nation-wide vote Mr. Hoover is polling 50.9 per cent to 49.1 per cent for Smith. Hoover's lead is made possible by the big advantage he apparently has with the women voters. He is getting about 56.7 per cent of the women's vote while the best Gov. Smith can do is 43.3 per cent.

Illinois is boosting Hoover's stock where he is polling 54.9 per cent of the total vote, in which the women vote predominate by 57 per cent of their total.

Gov. Smith is creeping up in the city of Chicago. Belated returns, which will not show in today's table, seem to indicate that the Governor may soon take the lead in the Chicago vote.

Secretary Hoover was still in the lead in Chicago and environs with 51.1 per cent of the total vote, due to the women's help, although Smith is in the lead with the percentage of men's vote.

Some outstanding switches are noted in the ward vote of Chicago. Returns from 14 of the wards show 625 men switched from Republican to Democratic, while only 88 men switched from the Democratic fold to the Republican. In the same district 517 women quit the Republicans and 91 women voters quit the Democrats.

Returns from New York emphasize the smashing of old party lines through the up-state territory, while in New York City Gov. Smith was pulling away from Secretary Hoover.

Returns from a widely-scattered sector, embracing Syracuse, Buffalo, Albany, Rochester and surrounding territory, together with the New York City vote, give Smith a total of 22,544 to 21,564 for Hoover.

In New York City proper Smith has a total of 5,768 to 3,213 for Hoover, while in New York county, in territory adjacent to New York City, Hoover has 762 to 369 for Smith.

In Syracuse and adjacent territory Hoover has a total of 11,830 to 8,997 for Smith.

The city vote of Buffalo is running almost 2 to 1 for Smith.

NEW YORK VOTE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—New York City voters in the Hearst newspapers' nation-wide presidential straw poll, now stands as follows:

Smith, 6,397.
Hoover, 3,663.

Canvassers in Brooklyn and postcards from Queens supplied the ballot figured in this increase in the vote.

Smith's total is made up of 4,567 men and 1,830 women, while 2,445 men and 1,218 women cast their ballots for Hoover. Of the whole number voting, 3,070 men and 1,269 women supported Coolidge in 1924, and 2,135 men and 887 women backed Davis.

In counties adjoining New York City, not including Westchester, the vote for the two candidates stands:

Hoover, 1,016.
Smith, 476.

This vote is divided as follows: Hoover, men, 525; women, 491. Smith, men, 274; women, 202. At the previous presidential election 538 of these men and 457 women voted for Coolidge and 146 men and 106 women supported Davis.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

WE have not seen one yet, but capable spies report that the little German band has made a reappearance on the sidewalks of Pittsburgh. True, one of their old stamping grounds no longer welcomes them—the corner saloon—but the German band, so attractive is it, likely will be welcomed in front of the corner drug store.

HEY!-I JUST SAW A GERMAN BAND
SIDEWALKS

When they first came around they had the true air of immigrants. Their trousers were tight and their coat sleeves never quite came down to the wrists. A semi-military effect was achieved by a cap, with patent leather visor. Usually there were five, sometimes only four musicians in the band.

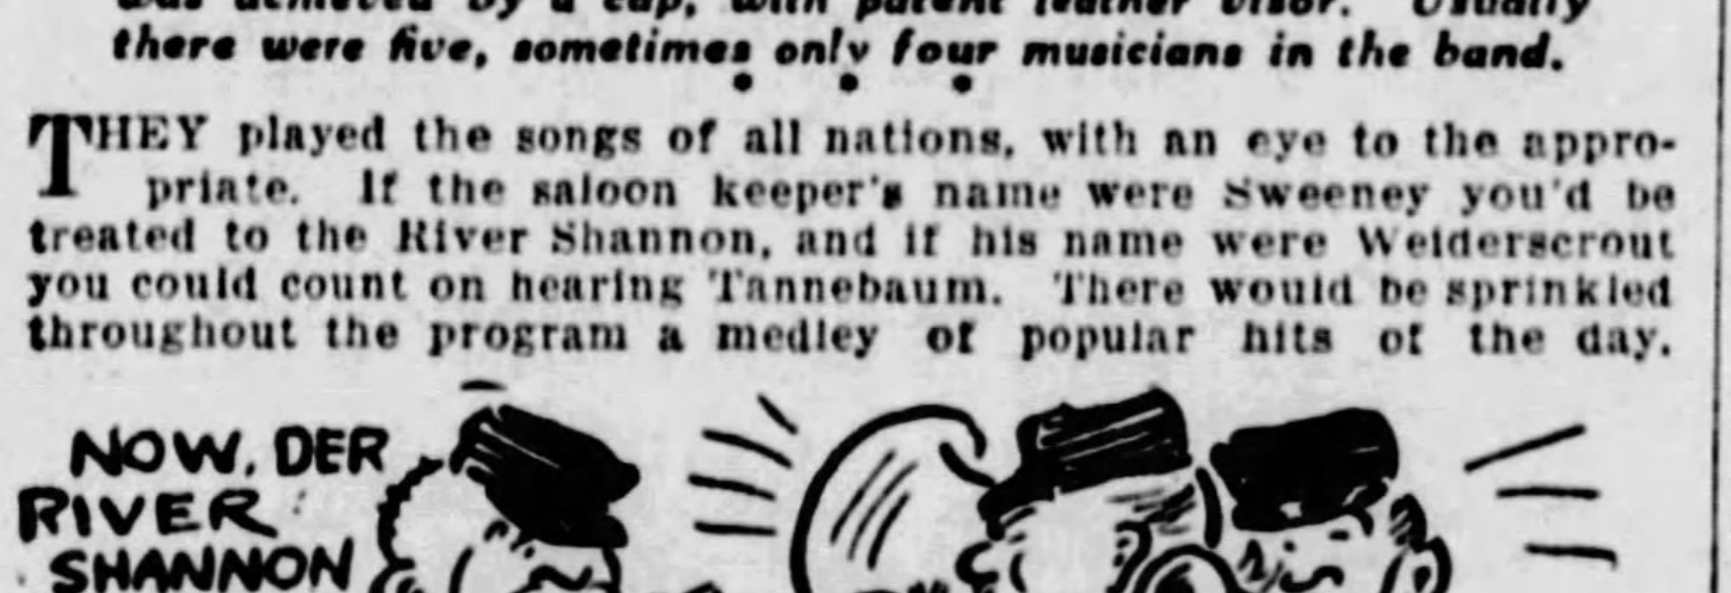
THEY played the songs of all nations, with an eye to the appropriate. If the saloon keeper's name were Sweeney you'd be treated to the River Shannon, and if his name were Weiderscrout you could count on hearing Tannebaum. There would be sprinkled throughout the program a medley of popular hits of the day.



Passers-by contributed and always the bar-keep tossed over the bar a quarter or so. Sometimes, the bar-keep would set forth flowing steins of beer, and then, after a final selection, the German band, with quick step would march on to their next destination.

There nearly always was an apprentice musician in the group, and he was not much older than 16. He always had a difficult time keeping up with the older musicians, and occasionally he got a sour look from the leader, as he delayed the start of the program by rushing up and taking time out to open his little black book of music.

THEY disappeared, of course, when the war started, during that period when sauerkraut was rechristened Liberty cabbage, although tasting always like sauerkraut, and during that period when Dutch Henry, a restaurauter of the town, decided discreetly to call himself Yankee Henry.

Now the little German band comes back. Whether it has the old zest, minus the flowing steins, is not recorded as yet. Perhaps the Teutons now amuse themselves with home brew, and perhaps, added to their other accomplishments, they have discovered whether it should stand five or seven days before skimming, and have learned how to get rid of that bane of all home-brewers—the sediment on the bottom of the bottle.

Three times a week a Pittsburgh man takes 200 pigeons to Schenley Park between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon. He hauls them in his automobile. He releases them and then waits for three or four hours for their return. Evidently a man who races pigeons for a hobby and who has his birds in training for some long flight.

IN Butler street there is a Boys' club, fostered by public-spirited men of that community and the city at large. Luxuries such as swimming and other athletics, and a boys' library are afforded more than 7,000 visitors to the club. The club knows no creed, nationality nor color. Its officers and board of directors are composed of the leading citizens of the town.

Insurance Loss Past 3 Million

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The shortage in the International Life Insurance Company may be far greater than the $3,562,000 alleged to have been removed from assets by President Roy C. Toombs, of Chicago, according to W. R. Baker, Kansas insurance commissioner.

Baker asserted investigation by the insurance commissioners of nine states indicated Toombs had become indebted to the International Holding Company for about $1,000,000 through transfers of stock for which he had made no accounting.

He said the need for a thorough audit was emphasized when W. M. Hopkins, Chicago attorney, stated he held a stock certificate for 1,968 shares and asked if it was valid. The companys stock book showed the original certificates had been passed in its place, marked "not used," and cancelled by perforation.

"That is only one sample," Baker said. "We have found 400 blank certificates missing and so far have accounted for only five.'

Three additional warrants issued late yesterday against Toombs by Circuit Attorney Howard Hidener, each charging that Toombs caused W. F. Grantges, a vice president, and W. G. Darst, secretary, to sign false and fraudulent certificates for 3,000 shares of stock, with intent to issue them.

Meanwhile assistant attorney generals of Missouri were preparing a warrant against Dr. E. F. Morgenstiern, of Chicago, a vice president and close adviser of Toombs, charging him with grand larceny in connection with removal and disposal of $500,000 in bonds last October 1.

REORGANIZING BELL'S COAL CO.

A preliminary step toward the reorganization of the bankrupt Carnegie Coal Company, formerly owned by John A. Bell, was taken today when Maj. E. Lowry Humes obtained from Judge Thomas D. Carnahan in Common Pleas Court an order authorizing Frank W. Jackson to participate in the bondholders' committee's plan. Jackson, a special agent of the State Department of Banking, is in charge of the affairs of the insolvent Carnegie Trust Company, which holds $100,000 of the coal company's bonds.

Most of the stock and bonds of the coal company have been deposited with the bondholders' committee in pursuance of the reorganization plan. The trust company's participation in the agreement will give impetus to the reorganization project, and the hope is entertained that the coal company will soon be operating profitably again. In that case, it is said, the stockholders of the trust company will be benefited.

BALK AT CLOSE OF CROSSING

Groveton residents will attend a mass meeting tonight to discuss whether County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern should be asked to investigate the move of county engineers to close the Groveton crossing of the Montour Railroad. Many residents of the community favor asking the commissioner to enter the controversy. The Public Service Commission heard the case last week and held over the decision.

The residents have hired an attorney and engineer to present a report Monday at the next hearing of the commission and they have also filed a bill of exceptions to the claims of S. D. Robison, the complainant. A campaign to induce Coraopolis borough and Moon Run and Robinson townships to rescind their resolutions which endorsed closing the crossing, has been started.

Sherman, Bluff street, has sued Booth & Flinn contractors, who built the tunnel, for $10,000 damages.

PICKS UP COURTNEY PLANE

The SS. Minnewaska's crew may be proud of its rescue in Atlantic fogs of Capt. Frank Courtney and his three flight companions, but the SS. Valprato, which has just docked at Sydney, N. S., has a crew that is still prouder; in fact, it's the proudest crew on the high seas. The Valprato sighted the plane abandoned by Courtney and the Minnewaska, hoisted it aboard and brought it to Nova Scotia. The crew smiles from Courtney's plane above.

ROCHESTER YEGGS TOTE SAFE AWAY; TAKE $300

ROCHESTER, Pa., Aug. 17.—Prying loose a 200-pound safe from the floor of the warehouse of the Rom Wholesale Grocery Company, in Sycamore street, thieves carried the strong box more than 150 yards up the bank of the Ohio River, blew it open and removed $300 in cash. A large box containing cartons of cigarets and playing cards, was recovered near the cracked safe. This is the third robbery at the Rom place in less than a year.

Gives Last Rites as He Burns

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—How a parish priest, blinded by fire, his clothes ablaze, stood on his burning launch in Lake Lavigne and, crucifix in hand, granted absolution to five others of his faith before they plunged into the water has been told by the sole survivor of the tragedy.

The priest, Father J. B. Dubuc, although a powerful swimmer, was drowned attempting to save the lives of others of his party.

The dramatic story of the tragedy was related by Albert Lafreniere, who with his wife and two children, Father Dubuc and Miss Leomie Sylvestre set out Wednesday night for a cruise around the lake, after a picnic at which they had been the priest's guests.

They had proceeded a mile up the lake when a backfire from the engine ignited gasoline in the bilge. The gasoline tank exploded, enveloping the boat in flames.

Calming his guests as the flames crackled around them, Father Dubuc calmly recited the ritual of his church and then said: "There is nothing else to do. We must jump into the water."

Lafreniere, clasping his oldest son, Claude, 3, in his arms, made for a small island.

When almost to the island, Lafreniere lost his hold on his son, and was barely able to win shore alone. The others were all drowned.

B. & O. BUYS TWO CITY BLOCKS

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has obtained two city blocks of property along Railroad street, between Twentieth and Twenty-second streets, in the produce district.

The property adjoins a small produce yard owned by the railroad, and it is understood that the ground will be used to enlarge the Baltimore and Ohio produce terminal. The deal was closed through the Baltimore office of the railroad.

Two parcels of property, including a group of manufacturing buildings, were leased from the Oil Well Supply Company for four years at $60,000 a year net with an option to purchase. This included 264x413 feet at Railroad and Twenty-second streets and 87x405 feet at Railroad and Twenty-first streets.

A third property, 177x394 feet, known as the former Duquesne Light property was purchased from John H. Hillman, Jr., for a consideration of $355,000. Old buildings of the Duquesne Light Company have been torn away.

The purchase gives the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad an opportunity to enter the produce district on a much larger scale. The Pennsylvania Railroad has a big program of expansion for its produce terminal in the same district now under way.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 17.

You have been reading about Com. Byrd's expedition? Well, he is starting next week.

That fellow looks like he makes the best and most thorough preparations to do anything of any person I ever heard of. If he fails, there is no use for anyone else trying.

It will break the politicians' hearts to see this bunch of men leaving before election. They wouldn't care what happened to 'em if they only voted for their side before leaving.

Let's hope that they find some land; for we are going to be mighty short of golf courses before long, especially since we started allowing the poor to play.

Yours, WILL.

HALF WIVES

'Ione, Sweet Ione, I Love You So!' Lingers in Memory and Keeps a Girl's Heart Warm

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ione Farr, just out of high school, gets a position with Max Weimar, a music publishing house in New York. Her chum, Marie Karey, is engaged to Palmer Elliott, a young lawyer, whom she later marries. She is always holding up as a model Ione's married sister, Jenepher, who has a small son and also holds a fine position in a smart New York shop. Benz, Weimer's office manager, takes Ione to Tin Pan Alley, where she meets the famous song writer, Wolfie Speed. Ione falls in love with Alan Blake, an accompanist, and they plan to be married as soon as Blake can support her. She is inclined to be jealous of Fluff Harwick, a new girl in the office. She feels that Jenepher is proving that a wife cannot hold down a job and run a household and do both successfully. She tries to be nice to Fluff, but the latter repulses her and she has her first quarrel with Blake on account of her. At Marie's house for dinner they learn all about a 50-50 marriage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"AND fair enough," she explained, "it would be my job if I were staying at home just as it would be up to Pal to provide theater tickets and dinner in the city. So he does that now, and we step out once a week."

"But what do you do for clothes? And if you should need a doctor?" Ione wanted to know that, sending a quick look to Alan.

The young husband and wife exchanged glances and burst out laughing. "That's where our faith comes in, isn't it, Pal? We won't need clothes for a long while; nor till the house is paid for. And we're too happy ever to be ill. You think we're impractical? But all great and good things are accomplished partly on trust."

Very beautiful Ione thought that. She spoke of it afterward to Alan, thrilling.

"It is beautiful, Ione, sweetheart. For them—yes. Not beautiful enough for you. Dearest in all the world—too dear to risk!

"You don't mind waiting? Not a great while now. How about it? Tell me"—

"You know. Oh, Lanny—I love you!"

CHAPTER XXIII.

MID-WINTER settled upon upon Lyall, a white, brooding presence.

Now when Ione went to the train mornings, it was through a riot of glitter where the morning sun struck fire from millions of frost crystals and spread a luminous haze through the sharp air.

At night her footfalls were padded by snow as she came along Cedar road. The garden was blanketed; white weighed spruce boughs and clung to the arbor vitaes as if a great flock of sheep had rushed through and left bits of fleece behind.

The river was ice-locked, stretching silently into great Tappan Zee and the lights of Tarrytown glimmered far away, like blue-white diamonds.

Still Mr. Barns remained assistant head of the studios and still Alan Blake was playing piano there, filling in his evenings with extra work, growing silent and rather sullen; not whispering so often, "Only a little while now, Io. You don't mind?"

February brought a spring-like day; then rain fell and froze in falling so every last year's leaf, every twig and tendril was coated in ice. And when the sun came out the world was made of crystal with rainbow gleams flashing through.

They penetrated that sparkling wilderness—Ione and Alan went out the road to North Mountain. They wore knickers and high leather leggins and knitted caps pulled down over their ears, faces the color of the wine apples that grew up in Tom's tiny orchard. The snow held their weight; they climbed drifts and slid down the sharp grade to the strip of beach that now lay between the river's sheet of ice and the towering mountain bleakness.

The wind had swept the corner where they had lighted the pine cones; they stood by the scrub pine looking at the spot, thinking of that other day. Long ago it seemed to Ione, the memory of it almost a vinishing thing, tugging at her heart-strings.

Reach out—draw it back before it was forever gone! Tears ran into her eyes; he leaned down, kissed them away.

"You remember, Lanny? The bright road to the moon—how happy we were? You don't regret?"

"Only for you. I'd no right. I have none now. Keeping you tied—oh, damnable. Love assailed and bound by economic chains. You want to keep on, Ione? Better to quit I think sometimes; fairer for you. Young fellow like myself—nothing to offer"—

She said, starkly, "You'd get on better if we quit? Is that what you mean? Oh, I wouldn't stand in your way!"

"You will misunderstand!" He flung that out of pain, recklessly. "I see you always hoping, know what you think. That I haven't got the stuff for success. I'm the one that's lagging; holding you back. Holding both of us back!

"I've tried. I've seen about a dozen different jobs these last weeks. Always the same questions. What can I do better than anyone else could do it? All goes around the same thing; start at the beginning. Means no more than I'm getting and giving up the start I've got with Weimar.

"He keeps promising. Well—see him again. Keep on trying. All I can do—"

His discouragement haunted her. She began to feel a little ashamed of her own progress. She kept it from him as well as she could.

There was a Sunday when three newspapers printed a story she had written. They used photographs and allowed the copy to stand as Benz had sent it out, with her name signed.

She told Benz and even Papa Weimar that this, too, just had happened. The vaudeville star she had written about eloped with a titled foreigner after the story was in the mail; it was offered, therefore, at a pat time and there were intimate touches in it the papers would not have gotten without missing an edition or two.

But Papa Weimar nodded and winked as if they shared a joke. "It just happened. That is good So."

And Benz said, "You went out and worked for it, didn't you? Got the woman to talk about this and that. The papers wanted it. Don't quarrel with fate, my dear, or the old lady'll turn and wallop you."

So once again her name was on the bulletin board, once again she tucked the coveted ten dollar prize into her hand bag.

She met Alan tremulously, starting for the ferry. But he smiled, arm around her shoulders.

"That bright she is—star of the whole works. Ah, the darling! Disproving the superstition that the beautiful are dumb."

She looked up quickly, all softness. "Oh, I wish it had been you! It doesn't matter much about me; it's just marking time. I'd have had it you an' I could, Lan, dearest."

The light went out of his smile, though he shook his head. "You mean they gave you another raise? A girl has all the best of it, starting in business. Ways open to feminine charm, naturally enough. A young and lovely smile——"

She sensed bitterness in his thought—felt herself belittled by the note of male superiority. She flashed out, "That's not fair, Lanny! Do you realize what you are saying? That a woman must exchange smiles for success?"

"Oh, come, Io——"

"You did think it! It's part of your old-fashioned notions, the idea that girls ought to stay home till some lordly man is kind enough to come along and marry them! You think a woman hasn't a right to compete with a man and when she does show what she can do you cry it down by saying smiles get her by!"

But the moment passed; he was hurrying her on. They rode across the ferry in silence; at the train he raised his hat and left her without a word.

She sat long with the Wish Book that night, drawing aimless lines. Bettr to quit? If they were to quarrel; let that deadly chill separate them! But—give him up? The high, ardent youth of him—his eyes all golden light going down her spirits? His gay, "Ah, Frills!" Forget that? Wipe out the memory of him on the mountain, whispering "Io—sweet Io—I love you so!' Could she do that?

Loneliness wrapped her, a dreary thing.

She plunged into her work with new energy and grew a little thin, pearly white and rather wistful, as days went by.

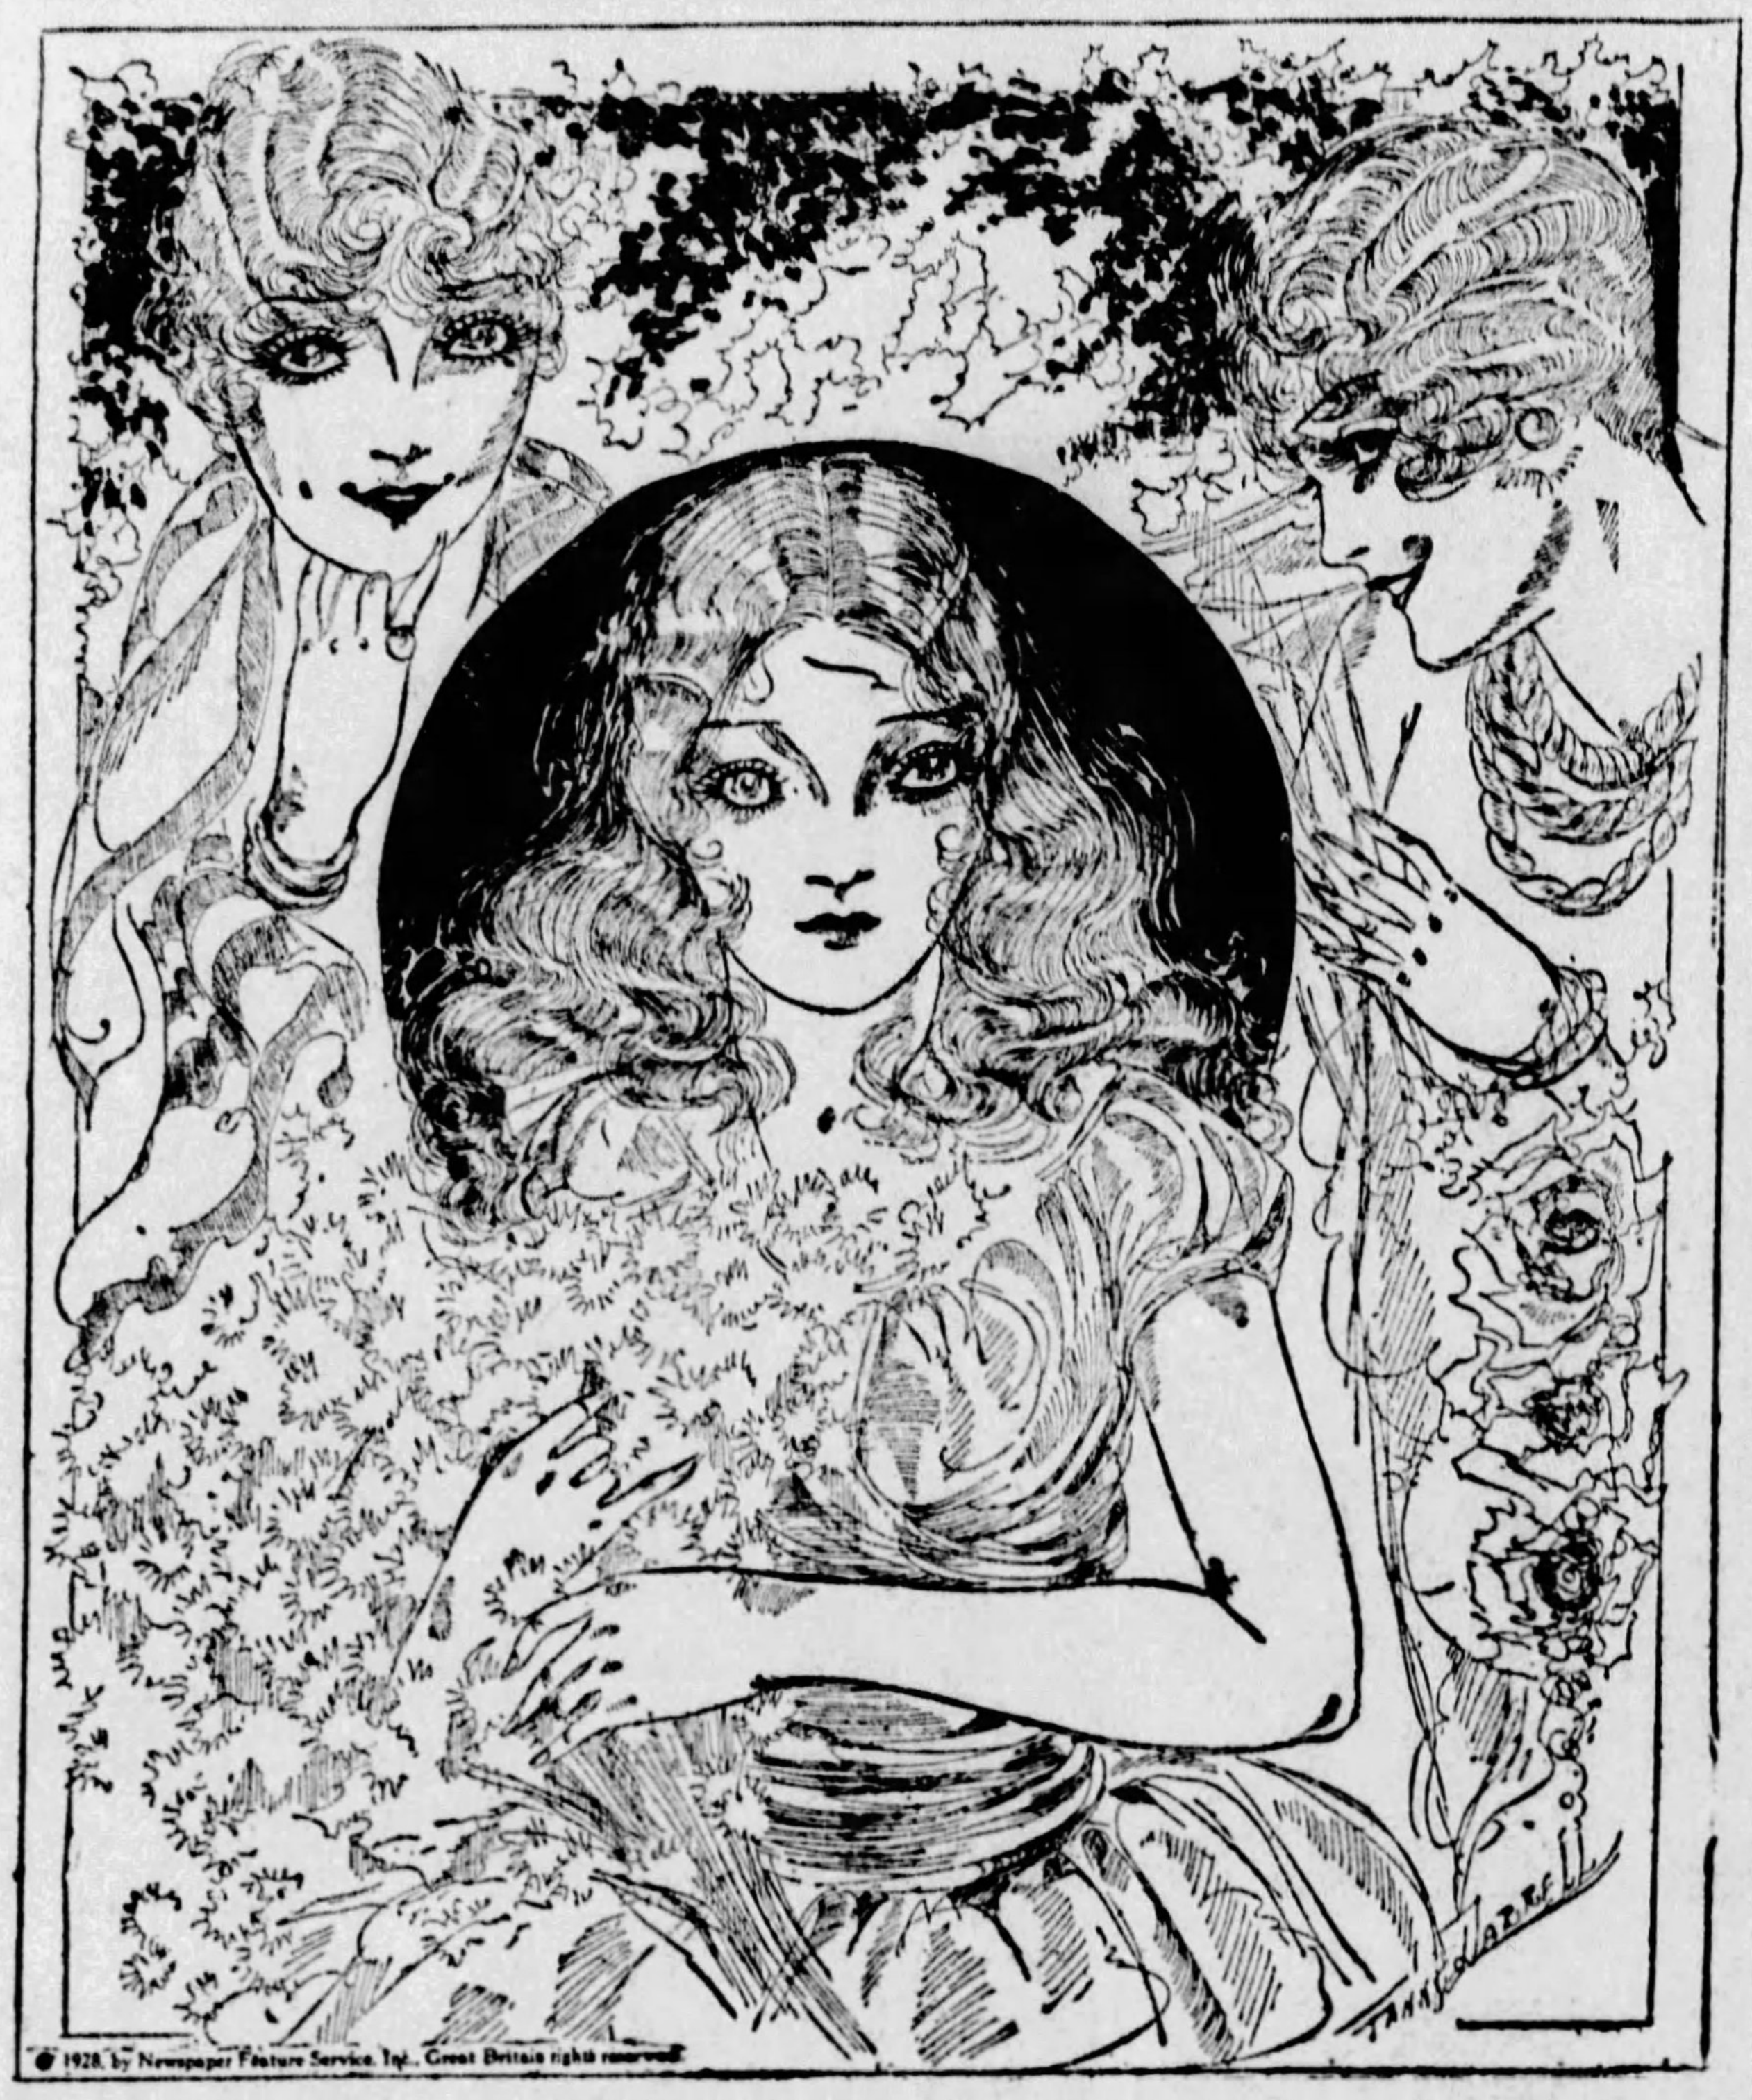
The Girl He Left Behind -:- By Fanny Darrell



© 1928, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

THROUGH the weary days and nights of his exile, his greatest comfort has ever been the picture of the sweet, demure girl who promised to wait for him—forever and ever, if need be. Her sunny curls and wide innocent eyes look longingly up at him from the tiny snapshot and he can hardly wait for the moment when he can claim her for his very own.

But—what a surprise awaits him! He has forgotten that Time moves, and that the little girl is now a real, grown-up lady child! She's acquired all the airs and graces of her years, and I wonder what he's going to say when he sees her? Oh well, Dan will take care of her—thats' part of his job, and the love of the boy for the girl he left behind will be stronger and truer for the woman he finds waiting.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" By Adele Garrison

Madge and Lillian Compare Notes

PURPOSELY I stressed the words "I stand ready to help you in any way at any time," with which I had finished my conciliatory speech to Eleanor Lincoln. I did not dare to make the words more explicit, although I hoped she would be keen enough to understand that I did not mean them to apply wholly to the question of her dramatic history lessons.

But beyond an apparently involuntary catching of the breath she gave no sign that she read anything into my words other than the assurance of more sympathetic aid in her lessons.

"Thank you," she said perfunctorily. "I am sure of that. However I do not see how you could be more helpful than you have been."

But there was a subtle friendliness in her voice which I never had heard before, and she did not leave my side again until Lillian finally declared herself as satisfied to go home, and we piled into the cars for our return journey. Then she found the opportunity to whisper mischievously:

"I'll know my lesson better, Teacher, Tuesday. You'll see."

"I am sure of it," I returned, smiling. But I pressed tightly the hand she had held out to me, for I was sure I sensed a strained half unconscious apppeal behind her apparently gay whisper.

"Pipe Phil!" Lillian muttered as she climbed into the seat beside me. "He's so tired and bored that he's frothing at the mouth, yet he's playing the devoted to your mother-in-law as if he were the most blisfully happy man in the land. Girl, you sure have that hombre tied fast! I expected him to bolt this party about five hours ago. Isn't Life Wonderful?"

She chuckled diabolically as my eyes followed hers to the car in which Mr. Veritzen was installing Mother Graham. I was so afraid that my employer would hear her mirth and guess its cause that I gave a great sigh of relief when Mr. Veritzen entered the car, and Otto closed the door and mounting to his own seat rapidly drove away.

Young Mr. Jackson with Mary, and Eleanor Lincoln with Noel had gone ahead, as had Dicky with Junior and Marion, Katherine was with Mother Graham, and Lillian and I, as is always our custom, had been checking up with Katie to see that nothing was left behind on the beach. Making sure that Jim had no trouble in starting the old car with the truck body in which he and Katie were taking back our belongings to the farm, I slipped into gear and followed the Veritzen limousine, making no answer to Lillian's raillery until we were well upon the road.

"That speech may appear very humorous to you," I said, dourly, "but I assure you that—"

"You see no mirth in it?" she interrupted. "No," with an irresistible air of judicially considering an important question, "it is hardly to be expected that you would. But I can assure you old dear, that if you look into it carefully, you will find that it was a very salty speech—really. However, that's beside the question. When we get home are you ready to produce that piece of paper upon which you set down by my request your notion of the conditions Phil Veritzen made to Mary when he decided to overlook the masked dancer episode?

"I don't need to wait until we get home," I told her. "I haven't changed my mind since I wrote the verdict down. It has been strengthened today. Suppose we compare notes now."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, August 18

THE long chain of planetary aspects ruling on this day point to much valor and bold initiative, with many of the determining forces and faculties under the high stimulus of the energizing Mars, supported by other impelling astral influences to aggression and success. But be on guard against intrigue and duplicity as well as whirlwind operations or moves. Likewise safeguard the finances.

Those whose birthday it is are under the forecast of a lively and enterprising year, with the energies under high stimulus and the mind keen to advantages. However, there is a menace of too hasty or precipitate ventures, and the finances must be protected from risk by speculation.

A child born on this day may be enterprising and adventurous and should be qualified to make a success in many ways. It should have its tendency to extravagance and speculation modified.

It is held that valor is the chiefest virtue, and most dignifies the haver.—SHAKESPEARE.

Some Ways to Baffle Typhoid Fever

CERTAIN diseases are always more or less prevalent. One of these is typhoid fever, sometimes called "autumnal fever" because it is more often seen in the fall of the year.

This is an infectious disease and one in which the symptoms are so varied that no two cases appear alike. One may have very few symptoms, perhaps only fever and tenderness of the abdomen. Another case may have these symptoms and, in addition, involvements of other organs.

It has been shown that typhoid fever was the cause of more deaths in the Army during all wars till the last one, than were produced by any other cause, even shot. Fortunately, these striking statistics ended before the World War.

Just as vaccines have proven so valuable in many other diseases, in typhoid the results have been so marked that the disease is seldom encountered after inoculation. The vaccination is a harmless procedure.

Typhoid fever is caused by the "bacillus typhosus." This germ gains entrance to the body through water, milk and other food. Flies may carry the germs to food or drink.

There were old time epidemics where every family in a town had victims of typhoid through the use of impure water. Milk and oysters are among the most common carriers of the typhosus bacillus.

Typhoid carriers are another source of infection. Certain persons having had typhoid carry these germs in their bodies for years. The excreta containing these germs may be the source of infection of many other workers.

The period of incubation in this disease is from eight to 14 days. As a rule the onset is gradual. There may first be headache, then abdominal pain, constipation, fever, chills, eruption on the abdomen and many other symptoms.

Whatever the symptoms, if there is reason to believe the trouble is typhoid fever, the patient should be put to bed and kept quiet. A case which might otherwise have been slight has often proved extremely severe because this precaution was not observed.

After many years study of this disease doctors have found that medicine is not the most important thing in treating typhoid. Careful nursing, proper diet and general care will bring the average case to complete recovery without mishap, and at the same time protect others against it.

The diet should consist of milk, broth, jellies, coddled eggs and such other things as the doctor advises for the individual case. Great care of the patient is essential. Frequent baths and cool sponges, care of the mouth and a freshly made bed will promote the comfort.

The excreta should be disinfected. All bedding and personal linen should be kept separate, disinfected and then washed. There need be no fear of other cases of typhoid fever if these suggestions are followed.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

A DOLLAR DOWN!

THE greatest national figure in this country today is the Installment Collector!

We are a "dollar-down-and-a-dollar-when-you-catch-me" nation! We are all living on the "first payment" plan!

The fact that a man drives an imported car and a woman wears sables and real pearls is not a sign that they have a lot of money. It's a sign that they OWE a lot of money!

"Ah, take the cash and let the credit go!" said old Omar. But, nowadays, we take all the credit we can get, and trust to chance or the Lord to send the cash..

"Charge it!" is the national slogan, and "Try to get it!" the national war-cry.

Lots of people are sitting on antique chairs that don't belong to them, eating food that isn't paid for, off dishes that never will be paid for, and up-staging people who don't owe as much as they do.

If we can just make the "first payment" on the car, the bungalow, the radio, or the engagement ring, we think we've GOT it; and we never feel that we are running into debt as long as our credit at the gasoline station holds out.

We even make love, start a business career, and get married on the "first payment" theory. If a man and a girl can pay for the license, put across a display wedding and splurge on the honeymoon trip, the marriage is called a "success." They think they've "paid the price" just by showing up at the church and saying a few words at the altar.

But, alas, marriage is not a "pay-as-you-enter" affair, but a "pay-as-you-go" institution. And it won't "GO" unless you keep up the daily installments of consideration, love, understanding and self-sacrifice. Marriage is no summer bargain-sale.

It takes oil and fuel and concentration to keep a marriage running along smoothly, just as it does to keep a car running smoothly.

These carefree adventurers who rush into matrimony on the strength of a momentary impulse or a temporary sex-attraction soon find that the engine of love has gone dead. It takes a LOT of love, a LOT of congeniality, a LOT of forbearance—and THEN some, to keep a marriage from stalling after the first dalliance and romance have worn off.

Success in love, in business, in work, or in life is not a fluke, a chance or a gamble. You don't "win" it—you EARN it; and sooner or later you've got to make your daily payments. FATE is an inexorable installment collector!

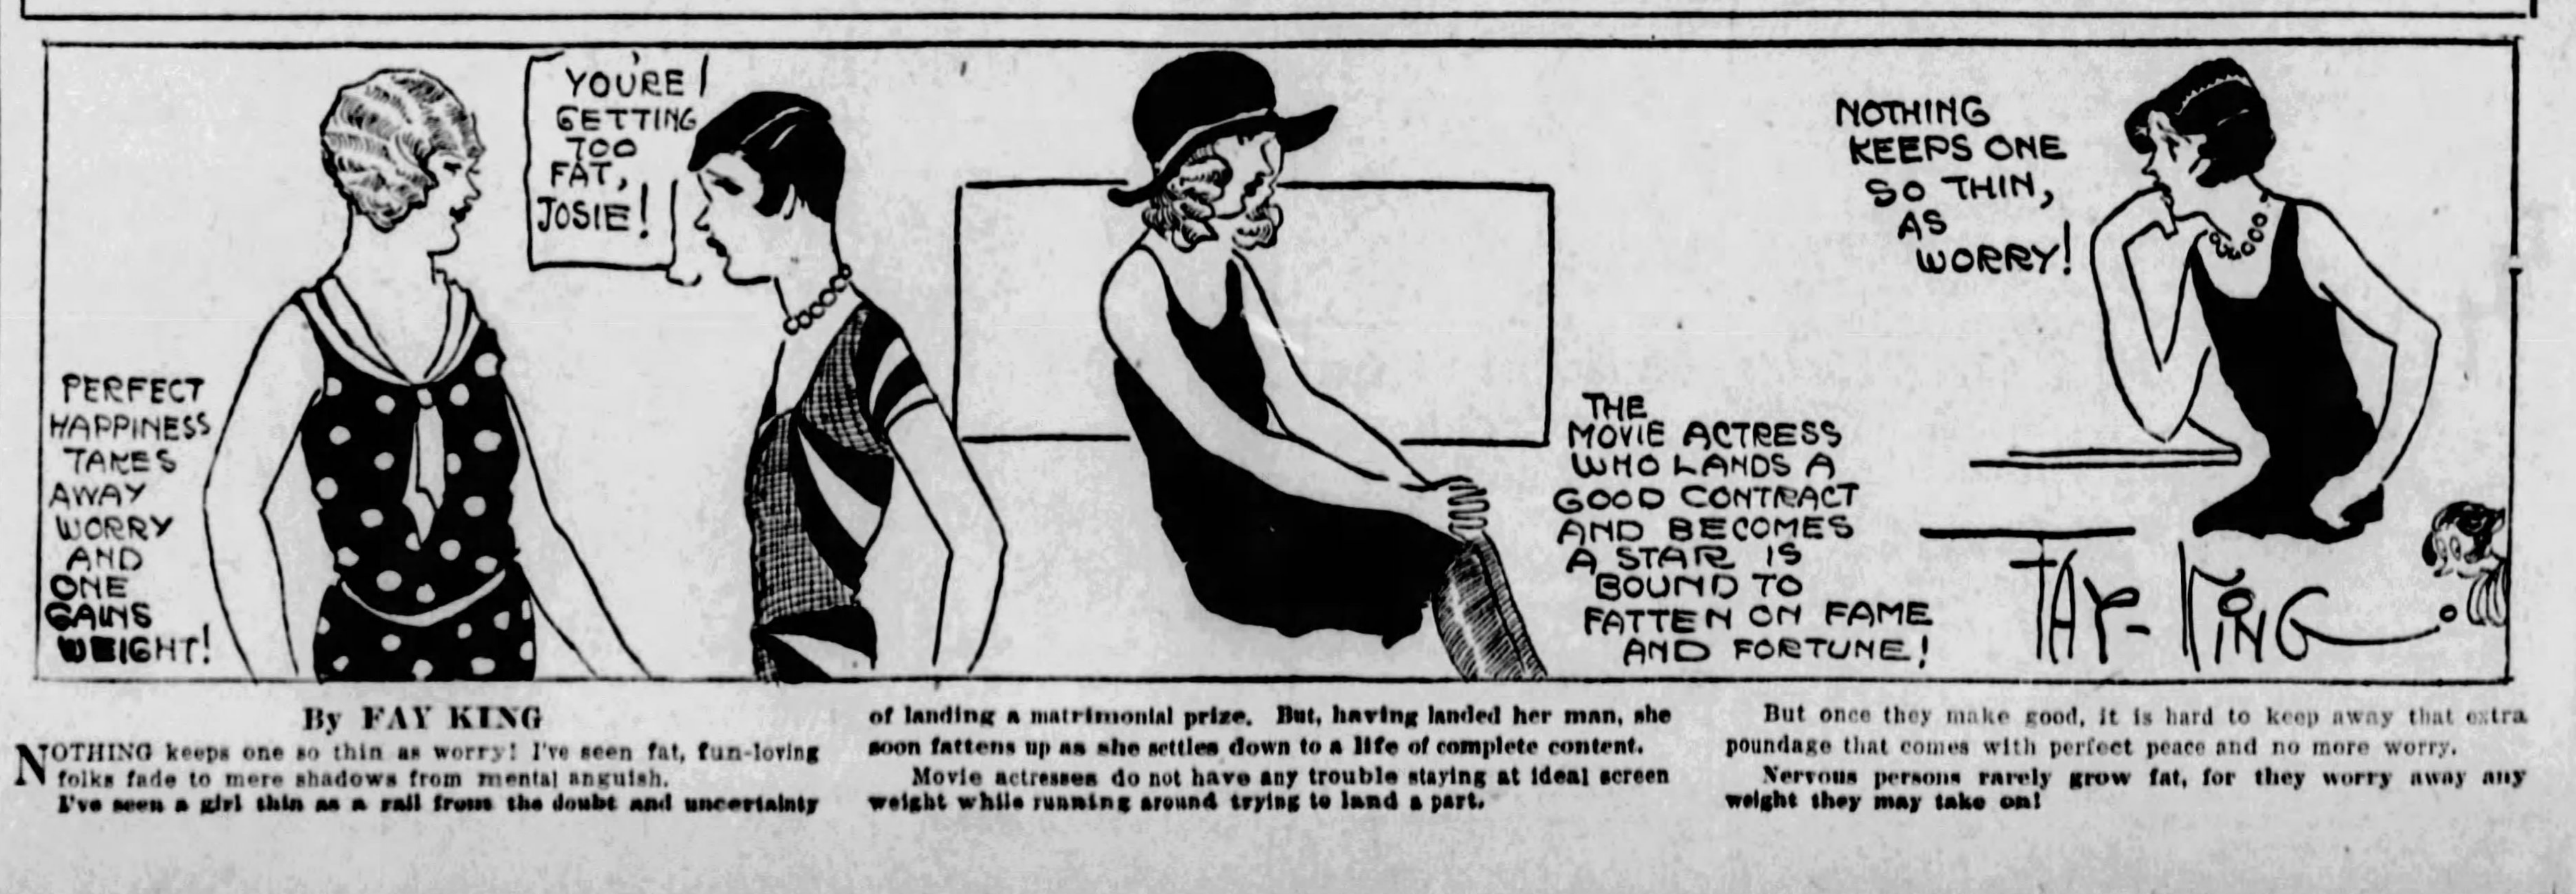
Worry a Sure Way to Keep Down One's Weight, Fay King Observes



PERFECT HAPPINESS TAKES AWAY WORRY AND ONE GAINS WEIGHT!
YOU'RE GETTING TOO FAT, JOSIE!
THE MOVIE ACTRESS WHO LANDS A GOOD CONTRACT AND BECOMES A STAR IS BOUND TO FATTEN ON FAME AND FORTUNE!
NOTHING KEEPS ONE SO THIN, AS WORRY!
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

NOTHING keeps one so thin as worry! I've seen fat, fun-loving folks fade to mere shadows from mental anguish.

I've seen a girl thin as a rail from the doubt and uncertainty of landing a matrimonial prize. But, having landed her man, she soon fattens up as she settles down to a life of complete content.

Movie actresses do not have any trouble staying at ideal screen weight while running around trying to land a part.

But once they make good, it is hard to keep away that extra poundage that comes with perfect peace and no more worry.

Nervous persons rarely grow fat, for they worry away any weight they may take on!

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

LILLA'S LUCK

By E. L. HARDY

HER bedroom window faced the East. Perhaps that was why she persistently waked at dawn. Three whole days should be time to grow accustomed to the thought that there was no need for early rising. Lilla Marlow burrowed her short little nose in the fluffy, lace-edged pillows on the four-poster bed, snuggled dark curls deeper under the cool linen sheets. She closed her eyes to dream—but could only think of hum-drum things.

The girls would at this hour be skipping through the revolving doors of the Insurance Company's building, anxious eyes on the big clock over the main entrance. Noisy greetings, business of opening typewriter desks and getting out pads and pencils. Sadie Fisher's high-pitched tones, penetrating the air. "Met the swellest feller last night! Gosh, dark-eyed and romantic, like Valentino! He knocked me for a loop, I'll tell the world!"

"Is it going to be hard for me to be wealthy—a lady?" Lilla asked herself, ruefully.

Mrs. Huntington had had Lilla's breakfast served in her bedroom since she came. Lilla thought breakfasting in bed was just about the acme of affluence. She despised poverty, had always clung to the hope that some day luck might bring her into the world of the idle, cultured class. Phil Huntington had been like the answer to her prayers.

It was luck which brought them together in the first place. Elsie Sterns had been out sick that day, and she had taken old Mr. Matthews' dictation. Mr. Matthews was president of the insurance company, and Phil Huntington was his nephew, the only child of an adored younger sister. It was in the president's office that Lilla had met Phil Huntington. What made him notice her especially? Other girls in the office were prettier, more vivacious than she. What inexplicable something had drawn them together from the first?

Lilla called it luck. She had entered, eager-eyed and triumphant, upon a delightfully new phase of existence; Phil had opened its doors for her. And within a few weeks after the beginning of their friendship his mother had invited Lilla to spend her vacation with them at Long Shore Bay.

Phil had not yet proposed, but there was a tacit understanding between them. She knew he adored her, knew all this munificence of living would be hers for the taking—she had only to stretch forth slender hands and grasp it.

"Nine!" chimed the French clock on her dresser with a tingle of silvery bells. And Lilla remembered she would be waiting at her desk for Mr. Osborne's ring. Her eyes would be on the little wall indicator, so when the arrow pointed to a four—her number—she would spring up with pads and pencils and dash along the corridor, through the bookkeeping department, and into the office of the general manager. She would pass Sam Lipiner's desk on the way, and he would look up to smile at her—a very brief smile.

Sam was a quiet, reticent fellow. He had hardly talked with her a dozen times during the two years they had worked together in the company, yet, Lilla found he was in her thoughts a great deal lately. The day she left the office to begin her vacation at Long Shore Bay, Sam had been preparing to take his final examination to become a certified public accountant. He had been studying at night for several years with that ambition. Stupid business, bookkeeping! She wondered now if he had passed—hoped he had. Everyone had a right to the realization of his dream, however prosaic the dream!

"There's someone on the 'phone, calling you, Miss," the maid entered to say.

Lilla sprang up, slipped into her new lacy negligee and crossed the room to where the extension phone stood on the desk, hidden beneath a blonde doll in a bewitching ruffled frock. Her heart, for some reason, had leapt into her throat, and her hands shook as she took down the receiver.

"Is that you, Sam?" She gasped as the words left her lips for she didn't know why she was so certain it was Sam. "Did you pass?"

"Yes—yes, Lilla! And I called, dear, to ask you to marry me!"

Lilla's wild heart seemed suddenly to stand still. "You—what did you say, Sam? You mean that you—care for me—like that? You never said—"

"I couldn't before this, Lilla. Now I have the certificate. I've gotten a better job, dear. And now you know—what I've hoped, dreamed—do you care?"

"Yes."

"And you will?"

"Of course, Sam!"

"I'll drive out and get you within an hour!"

The 'phone clicked, and Lilla turned in a daze to see the little maid staring at her, round-eyed. She laughed and said, "My heart rules my head, after all!"

When she at last dressed and descended the stairs, she heard voices in the sun parlor, and being moved to see her hostess immediately and explain her sudden departure, she hurried through the long drawing room overlooking the bay. But on the threshold of the sun parlor, Lilla paused instinctively, for the voices within had risen in emphasis.

"An impossible girl," Mrs. Huntington was saying. "I hope you're beginning to realize, Phil, that she could never do as—"

"I won't have you saying anything against Lilla," declared Phil Huntington, but somehow his tone lacked conviction, seemed mere empty defiance. "I know why you asked her out here, so I could compare her with the girls of our set. But the poor child has never had the advantages of wealth and culture. She's had to earn her living in a business office, mother. What could you expect?"

"The same arguments, Phil," retorted Mrs. Huntington, "you made use of in the case of Amy Nettleton. And you know it took you exactly one month to tire of Amy — the department store queen!"

In silence, but with flushed face and flashing eyes, Lilla turned and hastened back through the drawing room and up the stairs. She hurried to pack, no longer with misgivings as to the sudden termination of her visit to Long Shore Bay.

"So that's why she asked me!" she repeated angrily to herself. "Clever mother!" But in her heart she felt Mrs. Huntington had been right. Phil was a spoiled weakling and might have tired of her—in a month. So, after all, she hadn't given up so much for Sam!

"In an hour!" said Lilla, as she strapped her suitcase and put on her hat. "Time will soon be up!" And she went and sat down in the window, watching for Sam Lipiner's little coupe which would carry her away from foolish luxury to the happiness of a genuine love.

Hands Artists Rave About

Whenever New York artists or photographers want an exquisite pair of hands for "close up" reproduction they call in Annette Grandin. She has hands of rare beauty that can stand "close up" reproduction, because they are so delicately white and smooth.

"The secret," Miss Grandin says, "lies not in any special care, or in the use of fancy lotions, but simply in a skin bleach of my own making. I get three ounces of Orchard White at the corner druggist and mix it with the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a remarkable, and at the same time perfectly harmless bleach. I rub a little into my hands—also my neck and face—every night and this keeps my skin not only clear and white, but soft and smooth."

MADE WONDERFUL CHANGE IN HIM

Pitcairn Man Used Ten Herbs and Can't Remember When He Felt So Well.

"Ten Herbs has made a wonderful change in me; in fact, I cannot remember when I have felt so well," was the statment of Mr. Hobert B. Halfhill, 900 Hillside Avenue, Pitcairn, Pa. (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this popular herbal medicine.

MR. HOBERT B. HALFHILL

"For some time, I was a great sufferer from indigestion and had to be very careful what I ate, as gas would form and cause my heart to palpitate," continued Mr. Halfhill, who is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad. "My appetite was poor. Eating anything fried or greasy was out of the question, and cabbage would almost kill me. My bowels were irregular, and I had to take physics continually. My liver was inactive, causing my whole system to become poisoned, which showed in my blood, as my face broke out with pimples and blotches. I had bilious attacks, and at times when I stooped over, I would get dizzy and everything would look blurred.

"Since using Ten Herbs, I can eat almost anything I want without having gas, bloating, or heart palpitation. I never suffer with billousness or dizzy spells, which shows my liver is active. My bowels are regular, and my whole system seems to have had a cleansing. The pimples and blotches on my face are drying up, as the result of my blood being purified. I can sleep soundly; and this rest, with my stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels working as Nature meant, makes me feel like a new man. I gladly add my name to the long list of persons vouching for the merits of Ten Herbs."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

COVER a 10-pound ham with water and boil for three hours. Remove from the water, strip off the skin and place in a roasting pan. Sprinkle with brown sugar and stick whole cloves into the fat an inch apart. Pour a quart of pale gingerale about the meat and add a teaspoonful of ground cloves. Bake in a hot oven for one hour.

Peel and cut potatoes in dice. Cover with boiling salted water and cook until tender, about 15 mintues. Make a cream sauce of one tablespoonful each of butter and flour blended with one cup of milk. Cook in a double boiler or over low flame until thick and smooth. Add the potatoes, a generous shaking of black pepper, and salt to taste.

SHELL peas and place in a stewing pan with one-half teaspoonful of salt and barely enough water to cover the peas. Cook covered for 25 minutes, remove cover and add a tablespoonful of butter. Boil fast until tender and the liquid about absorbed. Keep warm until ready to serve. Peas are deceptive. They may be cooked to death in half an hour and it may take an hour to make them tender enough to serve.

Wash whole peppers. Heat deep fat in a frying pan until smoking. Add peppers and fry brown. Place on a hot platter, sprinkle with salt and serve.

WASH lettuce and tomatoes when they come in from market. Place lettuce in a colander to drain, then put on ice to chill thoroughly. If tomatoes are sliced up and down of the vegetable rather than across they will slice more easily. Serve the salad with French dressing or mayonnaise as your taste dictates.

Get cream puff shells from the bakery, split in half and fill with ice cream of the preferred flavor. Top with whipped cream and a cherry.

DROP SPICE COOKIES—One-half cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon Blue Ribbon Malt Extract (plain), 2 eggs, ¼ cup milk, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon mixture of ginger, cloves, mace. Cream the butter, sugar and Blue Ribbon Malt Extract together. Add the eggs, and beat well. Sift the flour and the other dry ingredients together. Add to the creamed mixture, alternating with the milk, mix well. Drop from a teaspoon onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees F. in a hot oven for 15 minutes.

PINEAPPLE fresh or canned is a delicious, wholesome food that should make its appearance more often on our menus. It is easily digested, contains vitamins A, B and C, a nutritious, delicious fruit.

Canned, the fruit comes to us in riper condition, than those we purchase fresh, for they are necessarily picked green and ripen off the plant, on the way to market.

Pineapple may be used in many ways. The juice in beverages, the fruit in desserts, salads and in combination with fish and meats. The Chinese cook pineapple in many of their dishes. It is especially good with ham or chicken.

PORK SAUSAGE AND PINEAPPLE—Pork sausage is not a very good thing to serve in summer time, but the pineapple helps to digest it and the dish is very delicious. You might try it for a breakfast dish some morning.

Prick little pork sausage with a fork and fry until brown. Pour off 2 tablespoonsful of the fat and saute 1 teaspoonful of minced onion and 1 tablespoonful of minced green pepper in it. Add a cup of boiled rice, turn the heat up full and toss the rice and vegetables until well mixed. Form in a neat cake and turn down the heat and allow to stand while you saute slices of pineapple in the remainder of the fat. Turn the rice out onto a hot serving plate and lay slices of pineapple and sausage alternately in a circle around the rice.

LOBSTER AND PINEAPPLE—Use canned or fresh boiled lobster. Dip pieces in egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. Saute slices of pineapple. Place pieces of the lobster on the pineapple slices. Make a cream sauce of one tablespoonful each of butter and flour blended with a cup of milk. Cook until thick and smooth, add a chopped pimento and pour over the pineapple and lobster.

PINEAPPLE-ADE — Combine pineapple juice with half as much lemon juice, sweeten to taste and add five parts water to one part syrup. Chill and serve.

STUFFED VEGETABLES—Shredded pineapple may be mixed with mayonnaise and used to stuff cucumbers, peppers or tomatoes for salad. Pineapple is also delicious used as a stuffing for cooked vegetables, especially tomatoes.

STRING beans are on the list of things we should eat. They provide ruffage for the system, contain the necessary and important vitamins, are a light summer diet and, when combined with milk, cheese or bacon, they form a balanced ration.

"Edward P."

An Intimate Life History of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales

PUBLISHED by the Sun-Telegraph with the approval and after complete reading by the staff of the heir to the British throne. A fascinating, fiction-like and intimate story of the "Salesman of the British Empire." It tells of the purple tapestry of a prince's life. It is a life picture of the world's most eligible bachelor, who frowns on loveless "Marriages of State." In America he is known as a "Regular Fellow;" all England hails him as a "Good Sport;" the world classifies his as "A-1."

Menu for Sunday's Dinner

By PRUDENCE PENNY

and serve them au gratin for lunch or dinner next day.

Make a cream sauce by blending one tablespoonful each of butter and flour for each cup of milk. Put a layer of cooked string beans in a casserole, cover with cream sauce, sprinkle with grated or chopped cheese, then add more beans and so on till you fill the dish. Top with the cheese and buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are browned.

BOILING STRING BEANS—String beans may be boiled with ham or bacon or in plain salted water and served with butter or a French dressing. Cook the beans in barely sufficient water to cover, so that water is nearly absorbed by the time the beans are cooked. Put them on in boiling water and cook 40 minutes or until tender. Do not cook for hours and hours, as the old-fashioned housewife did, or you will kill the vitamins.

STRING BEANS WITH BACON—Cook the string beans and make a cream sauce as in the au gratin recipe and place in the casserole. Cover the top of the dish with strips of bacon and place in a hot oven until the bacon is cooked.

STRING BEANS PILAF—Wash and soak one-half cup of rice for an hour. Cover with boiling salted water and cook for 20 minutes. Dissolve two bouillon cubes in boiling water or use two cups of stock, add a coarsely chopped onion, one cup of stewed tomato and the rice. Cook together until the rice has absorbed a good part of the liquid. Cook string beans in boiling salted water to barely cover. Put a mound of the rice in the center of the dish and cover with string beans. Saute a clove of garlic in a tablespoonful of butter and pour over all and top with grated cheese.

Why don't you eat your way to slimness?

by Mary Blake

Are you one of those feminine persons who, over your French pastry and hot chocolate, sigh for a sylphlike figure?

Overweight usually comes from overeating. Yet a radically restricted diet is dangerous, and difficult to maintain, because of our natural craving for a variety of foods.

The way to reduce is not by eliminating anything from the diet, but by cutting down the quantity of everything, making the sharpest cuts in concentrated foods, which are particularly fattening—sugar, cakes and candy, fats, cream, pie and such slenderness-wrecking delicacies. Eat lean meats. Use mineral oil in salad dressings. Mineral oil, not being assimilated, adds no calories to the diet.

Your meals should consist largely of vegetables, fruits and milk. They supply important food values—and no diet is safe which ignores this necessity—but they are not fattening. Of these milk is the most important, because it supplies as no other single food does, everything needed for bodily health, growth and activity. You can include it in your diet in various ways. A cream soup gives you a comfortable feeling of having lunched well, supplying essential food values without imperiling your weight. Milk should be used in the preparation of simple desserts to replace rich pie and cake. Custards, blanc manges and other milk puddings are nourishing, and do not threaten increased poundage.

Outwit your weakness for cream with this rich milk

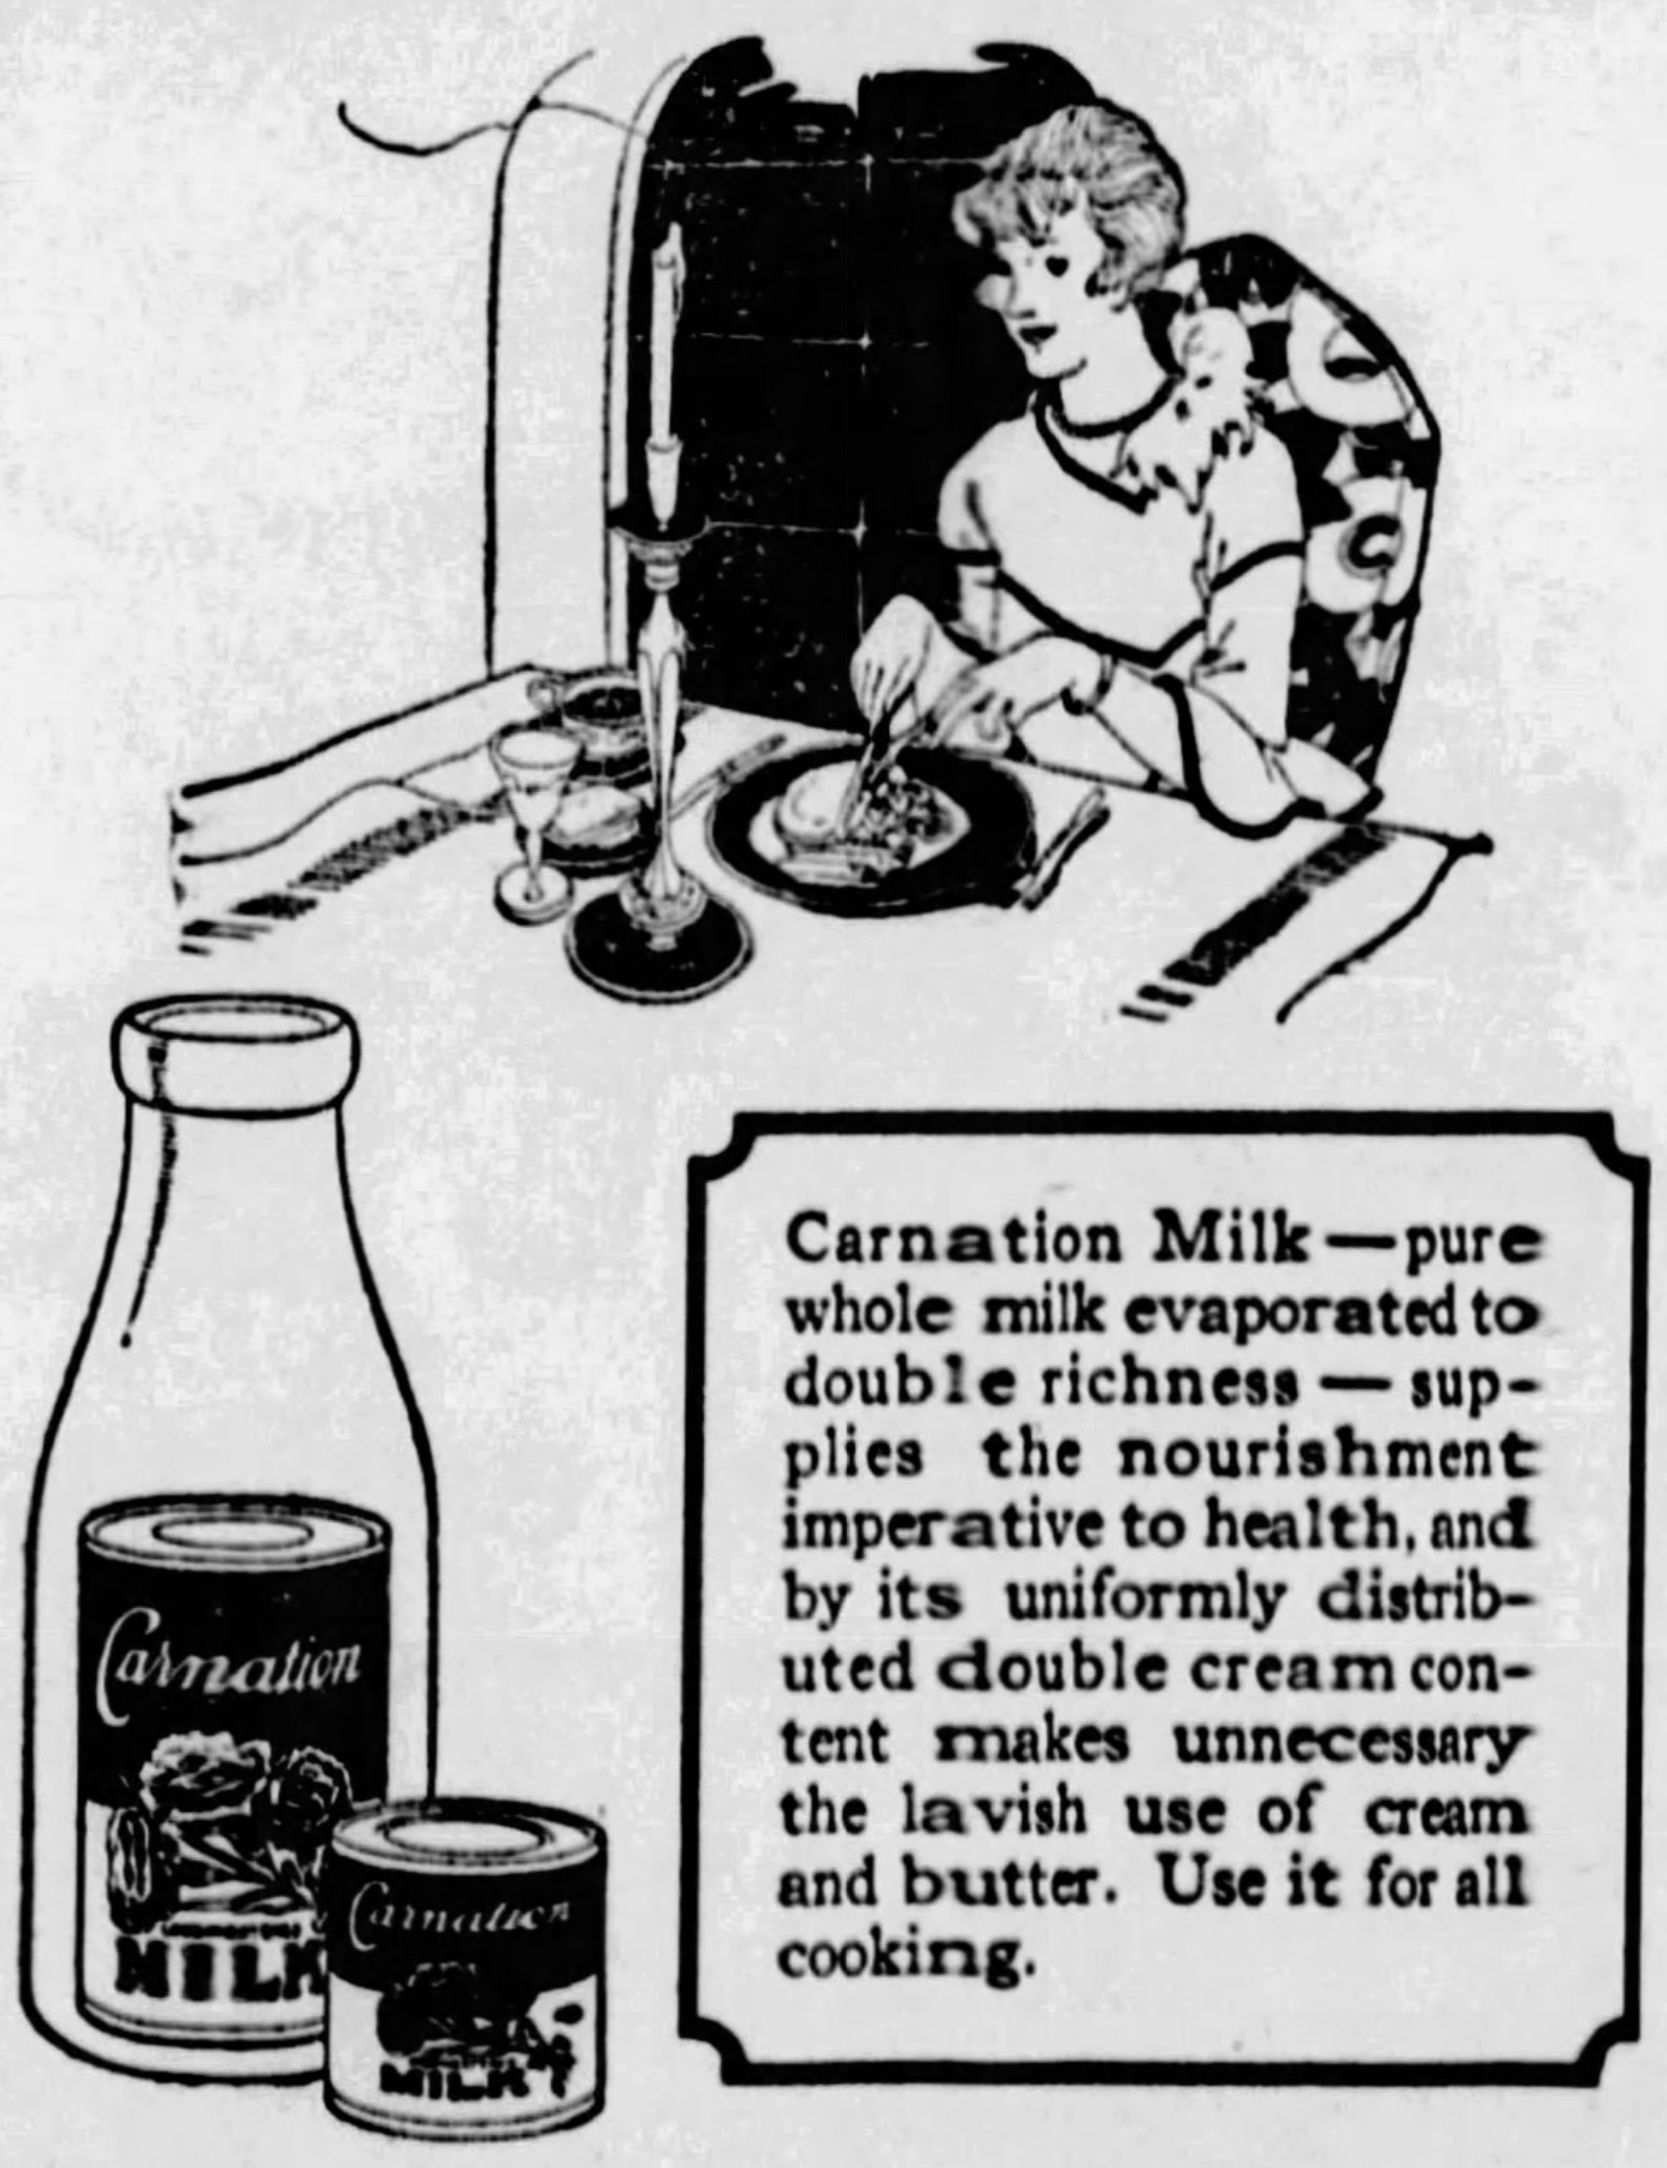
For all these milk dishes, I suggest Carnation Milk, because by using it you can have the flavor of richness in your food without the lavish use of butter and cream. Let me explain why you get such an appetizing richness from the use of Carnation Milk. It is simply the purest of whole milk, evaporated to double richness and sterilized for safekeeping. It is also homogenized, which means that the cream content is broken up into minute particles which distribute themselves evenly through every drop of milk. Because every drop has its double share of enriching cream, everything cooked with Carnation has the creamy, rich flavor that you ordinarily get only with the generous use of butter and cream.

Another way to elude your whipped cream tastes is the use of whipped Carnation Milk as the foundation in bavarian creams, charlottes and such dishes. In coffee, too, it gives you the creaminess without the extra calories.

Actually, Carnation gives more delicious results in cooking than even the best of bottled milk—smoother, creamier soups and sauces, more velvety ice creams, more delicate, finer-textured puddings and custards. More than that, it is convenient; completely dependable, never varying in quality, and extremely economical.

Send for the Carnation Cook Book. It is free. Address Carnation Milk Products Co., 100 Carnation Bldg., Oconomowoc, Wis.

Include It In Your Diet



Carnation Milk—pure whole milk evaporated to double richness—supplies the nourishment imperative to health, and by its uniformly distributed double cream content makes unnecessary the lavish use of cream and butter. Use it for all cooking.

Bert Lytell, Screen and Stage Hero, Cancels Vaudeville Tour For Role in Talking Photoplay

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17.

BERT LYTELL, hero of the stage and screen, is to take his first venture into the fifty-fifty realm of the sound picture. Bert has been persuaded to cancel his present vaudeville tour and hurry back to Hollywood for the lead in Warner Brothers' film, "On Trial," in which Pauline Frederick and Lois Wilson are also featured. Bert will act the role created by Frederick Perry on the stage. This one goes into production within the next two weeks. Despite the fact that Lytell has never made a "squeakie," his stage experience makes him ideal for his part, and the voice tests are reported A-1.

Gloria Swanson was among the first of a hundred stars to dash backstage to extend congratulations to Leatrice Joy at the premier of "Clarence," in which Leatrice plays opposite Edward Everett Horton. Leatrice has received fine notices, and welcomes the chance to do a stage play in preparation for more "talkies." Incidentally, it is quite the vogue for screen actresses to appear as Eddie's leading women. Although the stage salary doesn't pay for their costumes, Horton can pick his players from the most shining stars in Hollywood.

As soon as Ben Lyon finishes in "The Air Legion,;" he will make his headquarters in Salt Lake City as hero of the big "super" to be filmed in Utah. This is the one in which Marie Prevost heroines, and it is scheduled to be a very unusual and lavish production. One shot that has never before been made shows the mad stampede of a buffalo herd straight over precipitous cliffs to death. The humane societies will have no objections to make, for the pictures were taken during a recent real stampede in which the maddened beasts had to be driven to destruction before they destroyed all before them. The shooting begins in about two weeks. While Miss Prevost is working in Utah, Kenneth Harlan will drive through to New York, probably for the leading role in the stage play, "Tampico."

All the stars are helping "Fatty" Arbuckle to make his club a success. Tom Mix, Lew Cody and others have appeared upon different evenings and entertained the customers free of charge. Another idea of "Fatty's" is helping to pack 'em in. In an anteroom, for a nickel admission, the comedian is showing some of his old pictures. They're really funnier now than they were in the beginning of their laughter-giving lives.

Wouldn't mind having birthdays quite regularly if I were Norma Shearer. She had one the other day and her husband, Irving Thalberg, presented her with a "gorgeous" Rolls-Royce, with all sorts of accessories and fixin's that look—and are—so expensive.

Norma, by the way, will have Johnny Mack Brown as her leading man in "The Little Angel," instead of James Murray. James couldn't complete his Universal picture in time, so Johnny Mack stepped into the ranks.

Not all the stars ride around in Rollses. Even those who have 'em often allow them to remain in the garage except on state occasions. You're apt to run into any of the most pampered and petted favorites driving their own new flivvers. And the little cars seem to arouse the pride and interest of their owners more than the commonplace million dollar buggies.

Winfield Sheehan, Fox executive, is building a new 23-room "little place" right near Tom Mix's ranch at Beverly. One of its features is a theater with a seating capacity of 100. This will be wired for movietone pictures. The idea isn't really so swanky as it sounds, for Win will do much of his work in viewing the Fox films in his own new theater.

Philip Klein, son of Charles Klein, the playwright genius of a past decade, has been made one of the two movietone supervisors for Fox. The other is Ben Stoloff.

Before F. W. Murnau, the German director, invades the Middle West to shoot sequences for "Our Daily Bread," he will have to film a new ending for "The Four Devils." The Fox executives do not take kindly to its present unhappy finish, so the man who made "Sunrise" will have to turn a little bit Pollyanna and be glad, glad, glad.

"Crime Square" is the dirty dig at Times Square taken in the title of a picture to star Sally O'Neil at the Tiffany studios. It is to be directed by Eddie Cline, who has moved over from First National to the Tiffany outfit. Sally will make four for them.

Hugh Trevor, the 22-year-old New York insurance broker, who quit a $10,000 income to enter the movies, will be featured with Gertrude Olmstead in a film titled, "Hey, Rube."

ADVANCE GLIMPSES -:- OF STARS AND SCENES -:- IN FUTURE FILMS

Douglas Fairbanks as 'D'Artagnan, photographed the day before he began work in "The Iron Mask."

Alice White, formerly studio office girl, now a regular player, as she will appear in "Show Girl."

Dorothy Mackaill in "The Barker," in which she is co-starred with Milton Sills and Betty Compson.

Sally O'Neil and Jean Hersholt, daughter and parent in the motion picture, "The Battle of the Sexes."

BUGS BAER Says

THE fat boys are sailing home from the Olympics.

They won. A wreath of cooking herbs garlands the brow of the victor.

And he is crowned with a nosebag.

But why criticize the stout boys for eating?

If the race is to the fittest, we'll be the fattest.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Sylvia Pankhurst went on many a forced diet. And the London bobbies never had any trouble catching up to her.

The criticism of our athletes is the first intimation that the Olympics were hunger strikes.

When Pheidippides skated 26 miles, 385 yards in the original marathon, we will bet that he would have traded all of Athens' beautiful temples for one hot-dog stand.

The idea of exercise is to work up an appetite.

If we had our way, every contest would start with a dinner gong.

A soup plate may not be an Olympic medal. But at the same time we would hate to have our food served on a medallion.

The birds who are panning our athletes are the folks who never missed a meal in their lives. Most of them have double Siamese chins and spare tires of fat around their waists.

You can bet that the Olympic officials didn't lose any weight.

If the boys get out of breath when they climb steps, Mayor Walker is going to welcome them on the bottom rung.

And just to teach 'em a lesson we are going to make them guests of honor at a testimonial banquet.

We sent them over to represent America, and although it doesn't say anything about eating in the Constitution, it doesn't say anything against it.

If we cannot pass our competitors we can still pass the biscuits.

The next Olympics will be held in Los Angeles in 1923.

Reserve your tables in advance.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I always use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before and after childbirth. I am a mother of three children—two little girls and a baby boy. I would get run-down, nervous, dizzy and weak sometimes so I had to lie in bed. I would take the Vegetable Compound as a tonic and I always saw an improvement after taking the first bottle. I found it to be a good tonic. I always recommend your medicines to my friends and I cannot speak too highly of them."—MRS. ANNA LOUDERBACK, 1007 S. Front Street, Phila., Pa.

HARGREAVES LOST TO BUCS

SUN-TELEGR PH SPORTS

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Robinson's Position as Dodger Pilot Less Secure Since Scholl's Death—Former Dreyfuss Caddie Now Pirate Recruit—Bucs Gain on All Rivals Except Chicago—Loss of Hargreaves Hard Blow.

WILBERT ROBINSON, veteran pilot of the Brooklyn Baseball Club, who has been a familiar visiting figure in Pittsburgh as player, assistant manager and manager during almost the entire period of this city's membership in the National League, may have made his farewell local appearance as skipper of the Robins when the latter concluded their 1928 string of Forbes Field games yesterday.

Wilbert Robinson.

Uncle Robbie's contract has one year more to run, but there is said to be a strong probability now that he will be given his salary for 1929 (reported at $25,000) and dismissed as manager of the team.

UNTIL four days ago it looked as if Robbie would be able to foil the efforts of Vice President Stephen W. McKeever to unseat him, but the sudden death of John Scholl, a club director and strong Robinson supporter, has changed the situation.

The directors were divided on the proposal to remove Robinson, McKeever and F. B. York favoring it while Scholl and Joseph Gilleadeau opposed it. It will now be necessary for the heirs of the late President Charles H. Ebbets to elect a new director to succeed Scholl, and if they choose a man opposed to Robbie it will mean the gate for the veteran general.

IN FIVE of the last six years the Brooklyn club has finished in sixth place and seems doomed to land there again this season.

Flatbush games have been poorly attended in consequence of the repeated poor showings, but McKeever denies that decreased receipts have anything to do with the movement to ditch Robinson. He insists that his demand for a new manager is founded on the alleged failure of Robbie to enforce discipline during the Dodgers' second western trip this year.

ROBBIE, who succeeded Bill Dahlen in 1914 and is therefore serving his fifteenth successive season as Brooklyn manager, declares there was no foundation for the tales of wild parties. "Those stories were news to me," he said, "and I sincerely believe that the seriousness of the reported breaking of rules was greatly exaggerated. I believe that every player on the club was in condition to play his best through the second western trip, which is my main requirement. I don't see how the public can accept the irrelevancy of the reports about drinking festivals, which are said to have taken place in Chicago and Cincinnati, and the fact that the team won the Chicago series, broke even in Cincinnati and won the first two games in St. Louis before starting to slump when Pittsburgh was reached."

John O'Connell.

THE paths of sport figures cross and recross strangely during the passing years.

This week the Pittsburgh ball club obtained from Canton, O., for a tryout, a young catcher named John O'Connell, who broke into yesterday's game with a bang. Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss says he noticed something familiar in the rookie's face but couldn't "place" him.

O'Connell himself then brought an odd coincidence to light, explaining that he is a Verona boy and that years ago he was caddie for both President Dreyfuss and Treasurer Dreyfuss of the Pirates in their frequent golf rounds on the course of the Westmoreland Country Club. The youngster showed considerable promise in his first trial yesterday.

WHEN the unusual durability of outstanding individuals in strenuous sport competition is being discussed, Jack Britton, former champion welterweight fighter, cannot be passed by unnoticed.

This old-timer is breezing along in a comeback that is one of the year's features of fistic happenings.

BRITTON is almost 43 years old and has been fighting since 1904, but he is performing like a young championship prospect instead of a veteran who lost a world title in 1922 to Mickey Walker. In addition to beating Tony Vaccerelli in Brooklyn the other night, he has, since his return to the ring, defeated George Levine, Joey Knapp, Harry Felix and others. In all he has won eight out of nine fights, losing only to Hilario Martinez, and even on that occasion the officials were accused of being unduly kind to Martinez in giving the decision to the Spaniard.

Jack Britton.

THE Pirates' strong finish yesterday not only gave Burleigh Grimes his twenty-first win of the year and hung up the Bucs' eleventh victory in their last 14 games, but it brought a gain on every club ahead of them except Chicago.

As a result, the Rovers are now but a game and a half below Cincinnati and fourth place, with third position only a game and a half farther away. The brace in batting is a welcome sign that in trying to keep up their drive the Bucs will no longer depend so heavily upon their pitchers as in a number of their games during the last few weeks. The hurlers have withstood the strain in commendable style, but they cannot be expected to hold the enemy down to one or two runs every day.

YESTERDAY'S victory was a costly one to the Bushmen, as the loss of Charley Hargreaves' services through being hit in the face with a pitched ball will be a severe handicap to the team. The injured backstop will be out for about two weeks, and in the meantime the burden of the catching will fall upon the shoulders of Ralston Hemsley, with John O'Connell ready to give him whatever assistance his limited experience renders possible. Pete Scott, injured July 26, will not be available for at least two weeks. Hargreaves is deserving of a great deal of credit for the part he has played in the Pirates' uphill fight. He has been one of the main factors in the Bucs' success, and the extent of his workhorse service is shown by the fact that of the 61 games that Pittsburgh has played since he joined them on June 9, Charley has taken part in no fewer than 54.

Charley Hargreaves.

CORSAIRS TO MISS VETERAN CATCHER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

WITH Charlie Hargreaves out for two weeks or more, the Pirates today looked into the future of the race in the knowledge that two boy catchers will have to hold up the sharpshooters during the absence of the injured veteran of the mask.

His nose broken and his face painfully bruised when a fast ball from Jim Elliott's hands struck him flush on the nose in yesterday's game, Hargreaves suffered intense pain as the result of the unfortunate accident. The sad event took place in the sixth inning. After being struck, Hargreaves staggered onto the field where he was grabbed by Manager Bush and Brooklyn players. An examination later showed the nose to be broken.

The farewell game of the Dodgers was marked by all kinds of excitement. It was not such a fine ball game from an artistic standpoint, but what it lacked in skill it more than made up in thrills. The score was 11 to 6.

HEMSLEY EJECTED

The fans were stunned by the order of Umpire Bill Klem a few minutes after Rolly Hemsley had replaced Hargreaves. Grimes and Hemsley argued with Klem over pitches to Johnny Gooch and Klem ejected Hemsley.

Fortunately for the Buccos, they had another receiver in the person of John O'Connell, Verona boy who has been doing the trick for the Canton club of the O. and P. League this year. O'Connell was thrown into the breach, and to say he made a satisfactory debut is putting it mildly.

It is not the biggest cinch in baseball for a kid to receive a spitball pitcher, but the Verona lad looked like a finished workman and before the contest ended he made a putout at the plate that won him the plaudits of the crowd.

O'Connell picked out a low throw out of the dirt in front of the flying spikes of Jake Flowers in the eighth inning. It was quite important for the youngster to get the ball and effect a putout as Flowers was carrying the winning run. Sparky Adams, after taking a ground ball at short, threw a bit low to O'Connell, but the newest rookie grabbed up the rocket and put it on the onrushing Robin like a star.

Later in the inning the Dodgers

Farrell and Sarazen Play Here Today

JOHNNY FARRELL, national open titleholder and Gene Sarazen, a former possessor of the national crown, are in town for an exhibition match with Charley Manning, Shannopin professional, and Wallace Thompson, 1926 club champion, over the Shannopin course. The match is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. today. Lang Hukill, the present club champ, was to have been paired with Manning, but the star was injured in an automobile accident on Tuesday and is confined in the Suburban General Hospital.

The home pair, while hardly favorites to down the visiting stars, will be playing with the advantage of being in action over their home course with which they are entirely familiar. It is expected that Farrell and Sarazen will have to play close to par 72, in order to win today's match.

Arrangements have been made by Dr. J. L. McBride who is in charge of the exhibition, to handle a large gallery.

Manning and Farrell have been closely connected since they first started out to become golfers. Manning took Farrell's place as pro at the Siwanoy Club in 1921. The pair have engaged in several exhibition matches, in some of which Manning has been returned the victor.

Heeney and Bride Depart for New Zealand

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—Tom Heeney, New Zealand boxer, and his bride are scheduled to leave here today for Vancouver, B. C., enroute to Auckland, New Zealand. Despite his crushing defeat by Gene Tunney in his last fight, the "hard rock" will return here later for the heavyweight elimination trials.

JESSIE GOULD

Miss Jessie Gould, who has played brilliant golf throughout the early rounds of the women's city championship, was seven down to Miss Lucille Bejach at the end of the first 18 holes of their championship match today. The winner will succeed Mrs. L. G. Riley as city champion. Mrs. Riley did not compete this year.

RAIN FAILS TO STOP SWEDISH TRACK MEET

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Rain on the second day of the international track meet here did not prevent a large crowd from turning out to see the American entries make a clean sweep of the events.

Henry Russell, of Philadelphia, won the 200-meter dash in 21 7-10 seconds. Roland Locke, former Nebraska flier now representing the New York A. C., came in second a short distance behind Russell. The 400-meter hurdles went to F. Morgan Taylor, of the Illinois A. C., with Sten Petterson, Swedish star, in second place.

HAGERSTOWN CLUB O. K. FOR REST OF SEASON

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Assurances that the Hagerstown club of the Blue Ridge League would be financially able to finish the season were given at a meeting of the club officials held at the offices of J. Vincent Jamison, president of the league.

Officials of the club, which has been having financial difficulties throughout the present season, declared that through the sale of two players and money derived from other sources, enough had been realized to guarantee the continuation of the club until the finish of the season.

FAVORITE SEVEN UP IN GOLF FINAL

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

MISS LUCILLE BEJACH, favorite to win the women's city golf championship, advanced a step nearer the title this morning when she obtained a commanding lead of seven up over Miss Jessie Gould during the first half of their 36-hole match played over the Schenley Park course.

The second 18 holes will be played this afternoon, but unless Miss Bejach collapses the last half of the match will not be completed. The cards of the morning round follow:

Miss Bejach:
Out ......5 6 4 6 4 x 4 6 4—39
Miss Gould:
Out ......6 7 6 5 4 x 4 5 5—42
Miss Bejach:
In ....5 4 4 4 5 4 4 5 5—40—79
Miss Gould:
In ....6 5 5 4 4 6 5 6 6—47—89

X—Both players picked up, hole being conceded to Miss Gould.

Miss Bejach started the first half of the championship match in a whirlwind manner, winning the first, second and third holes to become 3 up. Miss Gould, however, copped the fourth hole and reduced Miss Bejach's advantage to 2 up.

The fifth hole was halved in 4's, while both players picked up the sixth, Miss Bejach conceding the hole to Miss Gould to reduce her advantage to 1 up. The seventh was halved in 4's and on the eighth Miss Gould evened the match by taking a 5 to Miss Bejach's 6.

Miss Gould, however, again became 1 down at the turn when she took a 5 on the ninth, while Miss Bejach negotiated the hole in 4.

Playing brilliant golf on the homeward nine, Miss Bejach scored a 40 and added six holes to her credit to become 7 up at the eighteenth.

Miss Gould won only one hole on the last nine holes and halved only one, the thirteenth. Miss Bejach became 4 up when she won the tenth, eleventh and twelfth in succession. Miss Gould made an attempt to come back on the thirteenth, but the best she could do was to halve the hole in 4.

Miss Gould again reduced Miss Bejach's advantage by winning the fourteenth, becoming 3 down. It was the only hole she won during the last nine.

Miss Bejach spurted on the home stretch, winning the last four holes in succession to lead 7 up at the end of the morning round.

Al McBride, popular Schenley Park professional, refereed the final match.

SEMANS, LONGNECKER IN BEDFORD FINAL

BEDFORD SPRING, Pa., Aug. 17.—Larry Semans and Rea Longnecker meet at 36 holes today in the final of the Bedford Springs invitation golf tournament. Semans defeated H. L. Zeve, 4 and 3, and Longnecker eliminated O. L. Gallagher, 2 and 1, in semi-final matches yesterday.

CHILLY SAUCE By CHILLY DOYLE

EDDIE BRANDT and the Braves did the Giants a nice turn yesterday else the Polo Grounders would have lost a full step in their commendable attempt to overtake the pacesetting Cardinals. The Tribe was able to win only one of their three clashes with the Redbirds, but the leaders are fighting hard these days.

It was with little regret that John J. McGraw and his athletes said farewell to Wrigley Field last night. They probably kicked over a few chairs and made some mean remarks in view of their season's record while performing in the stamping ground of the Bruins. The Giants won only two of the 11 games played. Hard to take, John—hard to take.

THE Waner boys came out of their slump with a bang in the last battle with the Dodgers. Lloyd and Paul connected for six hits, Sprout making four of the safeties. Paul may have been "pressing" as many a golfer does when he is in a slump. In other words, the great hitter may have been trying to drive the ball too far instead of smacking the rocket with his natural swing, a swing that produces lots of doubles and triples when the drives do not go straight to outfielders.

Once again it is recorded here that Arnold Statz is one of the greatest centerfielders in the game. Maybe, the little fly hawk is the best in the game, speaking from a defensive standpoint; in any event he rambles more extensively in the Oakland Or-

CATCHER SUFFERS BROKEN NOSE

Charley Hargreaves, hard-working Pirate catcher, will be lost to the Pirates for a long period as a result of being hit in the face by a pitched ball in the sixth inning of yesterday's game. Big Jim Elliott was on the mound for the Dodgers at the time. Photo shows the catcher in pain immediately after being hit by the ball.

ONE of the more important games that will be offered to college football fans of this vicinity will be the Duquesne-W. & J. games at Little Washington this fall. It will mark the entry of the Dukes into big time competition hereabouts, or rather, into competition with the long ruling big four, Pitt, Tech, Wash.-Jeff, and West Virginia.

Andy Kerr.

The Dukes will hardly enter the game on the long end of the betting. The contest will be viewed by most fans as merely a warm-up game for the Presidents. Folks have become accustomed too long to seeing the Dukes generally trodden underfoot by the Class B elevens of the district to look for the Red and Blue to give Wash-Jeff a shock.

IT IS very possible, however, that the game may not be such a setup as might at first be imagined. Wash-Jeff won't be the strongest team in the section, nor will it be the weakest. The loss of his entire backfield and part of his line has not filled Andy Kerr with any particularly rosy expectations, but this fellow Kerr is a pretty good football coach, just the sort capable of taking a supposedly lost cause and turning it into a wow.

The Dukes, on the other hand, will have a veteran squad. The strength of the team will be greater because of the fact that it will be playing under the coaching of Elmer Layden for the second year, and should have the fundamentals of the Notre Dame system, which Layden teaches, down pretty fine. Layden has some good men with which to work, men of the class of Benedict, Murphy, Kelleher, Capt. Donnelli, Kemp, Guerrer and McDonald. Besides, there are a number of topping appearing freshmen slated to enroll at Duquesne, who are rated as A-1 football material.

IT IS too much to expect Coach Layden to turn out a world beater this fall, one able to include a win over Wash-Jeff among its accomplishments. But it is not too much to expect that the Dukes refrain from scoring any more of these moral victories. The first thing that Mac McDermott did when he came here in 1925 was to get the "moral victory" complex out of the Duquesne mind, and the first thing that Layden had to do was to continue to smash that idea.

As I see it, the game is important because of the fact that it will afford the Dukes their first real test under the new system, and will give the fans a line on the ability of Layden and the Rockne system as applied to Western Pennsylvania football. And if the team shows class prior to the game, it will be a feather in the cap of Wash-Jeff to score a victory, however decisive, over the Dukes.

PETE STAUFFER, Carnegie Tech backfield man, is expected home from Europe where he has been studying this summer, within the next week or two.

Stars Meet Tomorrow

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The final match for the women's eastern turf court tennis championship between Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, of Santa Monica, Cal., and Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin, Springfield, Mass., which was scheduled for this afternoon was postponed because of rain. It will be played tomorrow afternoon, weather permitting. Doubles matches scheduled in the eastern tournament also were postponed.

Yesterday Mrs. Bundy, in a sizzling sun that drove all the women tennis fans of her age to the club verandas, won her semi-final match from Miss Alice Francis, of South Orange, N. J., in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

Then she sauntered away to her room, her admiring young daughter trailing behind her, dressed all up, and gave a luncheon party.

Ranking or no ranking, more than one expert here believes she will defeat Mrs. Chapin. Furthermore, it should be added that more than one expert thinks there are only three women in the country who could beat her in her present form—Helen Wills and Jacobs and Molla Mallory.

Five young women—some of them half her age or less—who play the spectacular new style women's tennis, with its constant volleying, sliding and jumping and wham serves, have gone down in defeat this week before Mrs. Bundy's steady old style game, with its deliberate, lobbing service, infrequent volleying and her marvelous court generalship.

East-West Matches Delayed

FOREST HILLS, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—The East-West tennis matches which were to have started today at the West Side Stadium were postponed because of rain.

Accordingly, the entire two-day schedule of 10 matches, including an exhibition match in which Helen Wills will appear, will be played tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock, weather permitting.

The absence of Tilden and Hunter, the country's No. 1 and 2 ranking players, may be a big blow to the gate receipts, but it promises to make the series a much more nearly equal contest. The West depends upon a team of young stars headed by George Lott, while the Eastern standard will be borne by a combination of old and new talent with the youthful John Van Ryn as No. 1 man.

VIN RICHARDS SEEKS PRO TENNIS TITLE

LONDON, Aug. 27.—AP.)—Vincent Richards, American professional, arriving in London from a world tennis tour, has challenged Karl Kozeluh, Czechoslovakian professional, for a match to decide the professional tennis championship of the world.

The arrangements are expected to be completed today with a stake of £1,000 to be played for at Queens club next week.

PIRATES

tried to put over the winning marker on a double steal. O'Connell had tried to thwart a double theft earlier by throwing through to Adams, but the Dodgers were successful in the maneuver. In the second instance, John made a motion to throw through again, but he flipped the ball to Grimes and Joe Harris was boxed and run down between third and home. The Pirates followed up these two winning plays by scoring five tallies in their half of the eighth. Bill Doak got in the game in time to feel the rush of the Pirates.

The Duke of Burleigh recorded his twenty-first victory of the season in the last clash with the Dodgers. Big Jim Elliott jumped off to a two-run lead in the first frame, but the home boys kept pecking away at Big Jim and eventually were back on even terms. The game see-sawed back and forth until the last half of the eighth when the Pirates staged their big festival.

Grimes, as usual, played a part in the triumph with his dangerous bat Burleigh connected for two doubles and a single, scored a run and stole a base. His two-bagger of the sixth scored two tallies and put the Buccaneers in front of the foe.

Foul to Cost Godfrey Fine, Suspension

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Wednesday night's fight with Larry Gains, which he lost on a foul, was an expensive party for George Godfrey, giant Philadelphia heavyweight. Besides losing the Negro heavyweight championship of the world, he has been fined about $2,000 and suspended for 30 days in all places under the jurisdiction of the National Boxing Association. The fine and suspension were imposed by the Ontario Athletic Commission for the foul blow that cost him the bout.

The exact amount of Godfrey's fine has not been determined.

ERIE, LOCAL NETTERS WIN IN N. W. PLAY

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Two Erie men and as many from Pittsburgh remain in the men's singles of the Northwestern Pennsylvania tennis tournament as a result of yesterday's surprising results. Byron Baur, champion, and Dan Smith are the Erie players left. The former did not play and Smith eliminated Keck, Oil City, 6-1, 6-2.

McCaskey, Pittsburgh, staged an upset by defeating Joe Smith, Erie, 6-1, 6-0. Berghane, the other Pittsburgher, also ousted an Erie man, downing Morton Eschner, 6-1, 6-4. Baur meets Dan Smith, while McCaskey and Berghane battle for the other final position today.

Baur and Joe Smith, defending titleholders in the doubles, reached the quarter finals through a 6-0, 6-4 victory over McGill and Dunham. The Erie men meet Geddis and Greenburg today.

chard than any other centerfielder.

BOOTS GRANTHAM is playing like Ty Cobb these days. There are many fans who would be able to back their viewpoint to the effect that Boots is the fleetest man in the league in an extended dash. He certainly hits a beautiful stride as he circles the bases. Grantham appeared to be trying for a record as he dragged a bunt and beat it out in the victory over the Robins.

George is having the best season of his career. He lost about one month with a broken finger, but after getting back into action he resumed his brilliant stride. Moreover, the Arizona speedboy has developed into a fine first-sacker in many respects.

MRS. CHARLES HARGREAVES was a witness to the misfortune which befell the Pirate catcher yesterday. The wife of the athlete, like most of the players' helpmates, enjoys the game and it was her misfortune to see her husband struck with the pitched ball.

Hargreaves may have been expecting a pitch over the plate in view of the fact that he had two balls and no strikes. Elliott, however, was wild enough to get the ball high and close and the Pirate receiver could not fall away in time to get out of danger.

JOHN O'CONNELL had a lot of ginger and confidence as he went under the bat to catch Grimes. First of all, the game had to be held up until Grimes could impart a set of pitching signals to the boy. This done, Burleigh started to warm up the youngster, but Umpire Klem would not stand for any preparation. After Grimes had thrown one pitch to the recruit, Klem ordered the batter into the box and play resumed.

SPEED DEMONS PASS TESTS

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Six more drivers have qualified for the international speed sweepstakes here Saturday on the Altoona speedway. Cliff Woodbury turned in the best record with a speed of 135.3 miles per hour. Ralph Hepburn and Fred Comer each hit 133.7 miles per hour to get into the race.

Babe Stapp reached 132.3 miles an hour, while Billy Arnold was clocked at 131.6 and Norman Batten at 128.6 miles per hour.

Six more entrants will try to qualify today, including Ray Keech, holder of the world's speed mark.

Playoff Dates Announced by Heydler

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, has announced four additional dates for the playoff of postponed games occurring since the last double-header schedule was issued. The Braves will entertain the Reds in bargain engagements September 19 and 22, to make up for the rainy spell which descended upon these two clubs in Boston 10 days ago; the Giants will double up with the Cardinals at the Polo Grounds September 20, and the Robins will play two with the Pirates at Ebbets Field on September 27.

EASTERDAY CHOSEN KITTANNING COACH

KITTANNING, Pa., Aug. 17.—Roy A. Easterday, former University of Pittsburgh star and a member of the All-American football team in 1919, has been elected instructor in athletics for the Kittanning High School this coming term. As an additional assignment, Easterday will teach history in the school.

Easterday was a member of the Pitt team which went undefeated for four years, and the opportunity of Kittanning to sign him as athletic director is looked upon as an unusual one. Since graduation Easterday has been instructor at Simmons University in Texas, at Bethany College, and last year he was at Waynesburg.

CARDS RECALL ORSATTI

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—(AP.)—Ernie Orsatti, Minneapolis outfielder, has been recalled by the St. Louis club of the National League and will join the Cardinals in St. Louis after today's game. Orsatti came to the Millers last Winter on option from the Cardinals.

Do Employers Play Fair? $10,000-a-Year Man Replies.

By B. C. FORBES

AN ex-office boy of very moderate education, who has climbed in 29 years of industrial effort to the $10,000-a-year class, sends his reply to the question recently raised here, "Do employers play fair?"

THE answer sent by George A. Lilly, now holding an executive position in Detroit, follows:

"Do employers play fair? Are most of them ready to recognize and encourage talent? I would answer, 'Yes,' and after you read my reasons I believe you will be inclined to feel that they do.

"I am an executive in the $10,000 class, 41 years of age, with 29 years of hard work behind me. Possibly some might say that I have not progressed as fast as I might have, but I am inclined to believe that one who has gone through all I have, and can point to a fairly responsible executive position with such compensation, has proceeded fairly well along the road of accomplishment.

"Starting at the age of 12, just 29 years ago, as a cash boy in a Kansas City drygoods store, I progressed through the jobs of wagon boy, then office boy, head office boy and order clerk in two of Kansas City's large packing houses, eight and one-half years in a large house furnishing concern, and then from there in 1911 onto the present time in a succession of locations, both as an office man and in the selling line.

"In all of these years I have found that the employer is inclined to be fair, but on account of the attitude of the employe, he is constantly on the defensive. I am exceedingly grateful for the fact that there is one thing left out of my disposition, and that is envy.

"MY education has been obtained in much the same manner that Topsy reached maturity—'I just got it.'

"Having been through the mill from that of the lowliest office boy, I had excellent opportunity to observe the mental processes of the average person, and in the majority it is that attitude, that because one does not progress as fast as he thinks he should, the boss has it in for him. Not always have I felt that I was progressing as fast as I should. In a case of this sort I analyzed the situation, and if I was satisfied that I could not progress I frankly discussed the situation with my employer, and made it a point to not let anything good pass by, though I did not go out looking for it. Thus I have found that merit always obtains recognition.

"There are two axioms which I learned early in life. One is 'The man who never does any more than he gets paid for never gets paid for any more than he does,' and the second is, 'Don't antagonize the boss.'

"Having been a student of history, I have had always in mind the goal of accomplishing something in whatever my line of endeavor might be that would in a way, measure up to the accomplishment of some of those real men who, in face of adversity of every type, made a success in life.

"I am inclined to become a bit peeved by this constant clatter toward the employer. Because of my work I have had the opportunity to observe the attitude of employers in different lines, and when one gets to knew these men personally one finds that they are human—but, as I said, they are continually on the defensive. Why? Because there is being radiated, constantly, a feeling of antagonism by the employe who is inclined to set his misguided and ignorant opinion against that of him who is better able to judge.

"A man who has built up a very successful business and who has for years been known for his generosity, particularly along lines of helpfulness to those in unfortunate circumstances, has in recent years put the same energy into his church life that he has put into his business life and doubtless contributes more than any other 10 men in the church.

"Last week he desired the trustees to replace the present janitor with a man better qualified to look after the property. Three men said they would resign their membership if the present incumbent was discharged. While trying to reason with them he asked their business and found that not one of them employed anyone. Who do you think is the better qualified to judge a workman, someone who is employing over 300 and has been employing people for over 30 years, or these who have never employed anyone? But he was magnanimous enough to tell them he would rather resign than have them do so. This is just an illustration of the mental limits of many individuals.

"It would be well for some discontented fellows to recall the two men who were cast on a desert island with $500 apiece; at the end of the year one had $1,000 and the other was working for him.

"I cannot agree that an employer wilfully hampers the advancement of an employe. Give him the benefit of the doubt, and I believe the conclusion will be that the sooner all are willing to co-operate and make things just as good as possible, that everybody's condition will improve."

DOES that strike you as common sense?

RISE IN MONEY HALTS STOCK ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Resumption of the upward price movement in today's stock market lifted nearly a score issues to new high records, but the recovery was checked by an advance in call money rates. Early gains of 1 to 9 points were substantially reduced, many of them being cut in half in the midday selling movement. Trading, which had been extremely active in the rally, turned dull on the decline.

Call money renewed at 5 per cent, advanced to 5½ and thence to 6 as banks called $40,000,000 in loans. Time money and commercial paper rates held fairly steady. Fears of an increase in the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank rate proved to be unfounded as the charge was continued at 5 per cent for another week.

While the sharp decreases in brokers' loans and rediscounts had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment, official intimations that the low call money rates yesterday were "artificial" stimulated liquidation on the part of cautious traders. Pools were again active in the steel, motor, chemical, food, can, merchandising and public utility shares, but they appeared to be having difficulty in attracting a large outside following.

New peak prices for the year, or longer, were registered by American Can, Kroger Stores, R. H. Macy, Savage Arms, Tidewater Oil, Grand Union preferred, Sears Roebuck, Loft Candy and Texas and Pacific. International Harvester ran up 9 points, but dropped back nearly 5 on profit-taking. Graham Paige likewise failed to hold its early gain of 6 points and General Motors slipped back 2 from the morning high.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Demands for fruit and vegetables were good today at the local wholesale produce district. The quotations were about unchanged.

The egg and cheese markets were steady. Butter was firm. The quotations were unchanged.

The poultry market was about steady, with the demand fair, supplies liberal and quotations about unchanged.

Car lot supplies were moderate, a total of 475 cars being on track. Arrivals included 2 cars of apples, 1 cabbage, 12 cantaloupes, 4 celery, 4 lemons, 8 lettuce, 11 onions, 7 oranges, 17 peaches, 3 pears, 1 carrots, 2 peas, 2 corn, 11 potatoes, 3 sweet potatoes, 4 tomatoes, 11 watermelons and 2 cucumbers.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The raw sugar market was quieter today. While no sales were reported, offerings appeared to be more liberal with sugars available at concessions of 1-16 or on the basis of 4.21 for spot duty paid.

Raw sugar futures opened at declines of 1 to 3 points and following the call showed additional losses of 1 point active positions selling 2 to 4 points under last night's close. The decline was due to liquidation and commission selling influenced by the disappointing London cables and the more liberal offerings in the spot market. Shorts covered on the decline, however, and as the offerings tapered off later, prices rallied partially and at midday were net unchanged to 2 points lower.

All local refiners advanced their list price to a basis of 5.65c for refined granulated.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Market Continues Advance.

An opening rate of 5 per cent on call money and strong buying of United States Steel encouraged the stock market fraternity and there was a steady broadening of demand as the session wore on. Buyers were willing to take stocks despite reports that liquidation was in progress in many parts of the list under cover of the bullish demonstrations resulting from the sharp drop in call money since Wednesday. However, banks called about $50,000,000 and around the loan rate was advanced to 7. Most of the high grade stocks were strong but, with few exceptions, there were no sensational movements. American Smelters furnished the early fireworks with a wide overnight gain and Tidewater Associated Oil, one of the low-priced issues, made good on a tip circulated a short time ago that it was in line for a soubtantial advance. Tidewater Associated is one of the important gasoline marketers in the East and also has important Western connections through its consilidation with the old Associated Oil Company. The company owns control of Tidal Osage Oil (formerly Guffey-Gillespie) in which there is a large local interest.

Reserve Bank Statement.

The Federal Reserve weekly statement indicated that around $20,000,000 in bills had been bought in the open market, although holdings of United States securities again declined. There was also a decrease in rediscounts, all factors which the Street viewed as indicative of an easier credit situation. Banks, however, were inclined to take another view. They considered the ease in call money as temporary and "ridiculous," pointing out it may represent an attempt artificially to buoy the stock market and certain to end within a few days as suddenly as it came. The commercial demand for funds which already has begun on a small scale, is believed to be sufficient to take up any available surplus funds and consequently a tightening of money rates is expected. The Street was interested in the failure of the Federal Reserve statement to show the item "gold held abroad," regarding its absence as proof that reports of the purchase last week of gold in London were erroneous.

Report of American Machine and Foundry Company and subsidiaries for six months ended June 30, 1928, shows net profit of $486,299 after interest, depreciation, federal taxes, etc., comparing with $634,951 in first half of 1927. Including company's proportionate interest in International Cigar Machinery Company's earnings total net profit was $635,737, equivalent after dividend requirements on the 7 per cent preferred stock to $2.90 a share earned on 194,681 no-par shares of common stock, comparing with $722,335 or $3.63 a share on 180,000 common shares in first six months of 1927.

American Can.

Earnings of American Can Company will show a sharp gain this year compared with 1927, when net a share on the 2,473,998 common shares was $4.11. Not only is there every indication that the pack of vegetables, and hence the demand for cans, will be the largest in years, but every department of the company's line business—tins for tobacco, powder and a host of other commodities has shown a gain this year. Interests informed on Can's affairs, however, characterize as fantastic some of the estimates of earnings heard in the street. They say it is impossible to figure profits until the canning season, now at its height, is about over, but intimate that if net for stock shows a 50 per cent increase over 1927 this will be fully as good as can be hoped for. Estimating net earnings at 50 per cent above 1927 would make net income approximately $19,500,000 and net for common stock something more than $16,000,000, or around $6.50 a common share.

United States exports of rubber goods held steady for first six months of 1928 totaling $36,216,000, compared with $36,045,800 for 1927. The offering of common stock will place about $12,000,000 in the treasury, which, with the present cash reserve, assures the completion of the projected construction and still leaves the company in its usual strong financial position. The entire offering is underwritten by Hayden-Stone & Co. The preferred and common holders of record August 30 will be entitled to subscribe to the new stock. Warrants expire September 20.

Wall St. Editor Optimistic.

Kenneth C. Hogate, vice president of Dow-Jones and Company and managing editor of the Wall Street Journal, in Pittsburgh today, stated that, barring further drastic action in respect to the credit situation, the stock market may be expected to increase in activity and volume. Business, he said, is sound and economists agree that many of the sound standard stocks are still selling at attractive levels which have not fully discounted their promising future on an investment basis. Congestion in the bond market, he believe, has been exaggerated with every prospect of it being entirely cleared up in the next 90 days. The political situation is entirely satisfactory for business, he said, with the outlook that the campaign management of both parties will set a new standard of decency. There is no doubt in the editor's opinion of the success of Mr. Hoover, although it is possible that the usual pre-election scare will occur sometime in the fall. Mr. Hogate announced that the Dow-Jones-Wall Street news service will be available in full in Pittsburgh beginning September 1. The news will be distributed over the tickers of the Pittsburgh News-Ticker Company, operated by W. A. Wyman. Mr. Hogate is making a tour of the 23 cities in the United States and Canada in which the Dow-Jones News Service is in operation, and he will make a national survey of political and business factors for the Wall Street Journal.

Steel Prospects Brighter.

The establishment of higher final quarter steel prices in connection with a heavy demand and favorable outlook is taking all hesitation out of the steel market. Consumers are specifying freely and at the same time insisting on delivery, indicating that there is little accumulation of stocks. The pig iron marget is tending to higher levels with stocks low in producers' yards. Increased prices will be established with comparative ease, it appears. The steel situation, as a whole, is daily growing more promising, with railroads taking tonnage more freely, the oil industry reviving, and motor production and building construction holding at high levels.

New Wall Street Bank Rumored.

A new bank is being formed in Wall Street. Organization is still in the stage of discussions and nothing definite has yet been agreed upon. However, one of the organizers of the bank stated that at present "it looks very much as if the new bank may soon be an accomplished reality." Organizers of the new institution are understood to be prominent in large American industrial enterprises and on the roster of the Democratic Party. Names mentioned in Wall Street discussions include John J. Raskob, William A. Kenny, Fred Hasler, A. F. C. Fiske, the Fisher brothers and some of the du Pont family. Unofficially reports place capitalization of the new bank at around $50,000,000 and headquarters in Wall Street. This will make the second new Wall Street bank to be organized of late, and if reports on the capital structure are correct the new bank will have the greatest capital funds at organization of any bank in this country.

Hand of Mellon, Preparing Way for Low Rate in U. S. Refinancing Seen in Call Money Break.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE abrupt break in call money yesterday may have been partly occasioned by preparation for the refunding operations of the United States Treasury next month.

As has been pointed out in this column, the high money policy of the Federal Reserve Bank, by which it intended to curb speculation, threatened to conflict with the September financing by the government.

Apparently Secretary Andrew W. Mellon has effected some compromise of the two policies which will result in a stronger bond market and which will allow him to secure a low interest rate.

AFTER renewing at 7 per cent on Wednesday, call money slumped to 5½ per cent. Yesterday it renewed at 6 per cent, but following reports that outside loans were being made at a lower rate the official quotation declined to 4½ per cent.

This was the lowest rate since last April.

THE reduction in brokers' loans of $50,000,000 announced yesterday indicates that the demand for credit for speculation is not pressing, but it is unlikely that this factor alone could have caused such a sharp change in the money market.

On September 15 the Treasury Department must refund the Third Liberty loan 4¼s. Recent high rates for call money have depressed the bond market and have left dealers with a large volume of unsold securities on their shelves.

Low money, if it continues and is not merely a brief flurry, will correct this situation, allowing refunding to be done advantageously for the government.

IN AN editorial yesterday the Wall Street Journal raised an interesting point about our Federal Reserve system.

On June 30 the total resources of all the member banks exceeded $45,000,000,000. Deposits amounted to over $36,000,000,000 and the total loans and investments were $35,500,000,000.

These did not include the nonmember banks which are more or less dependent upon the stabilizing influences of the Federal Reserve.

The total bank loans and investments of all banks probably exceed $60,000,000,000 and resources approximate $80,000,000,000.

DURING the last five years there has been an enormous expansion in our credit system made necessary by the large volume of foreign financing in this country.

Most of this was from the resources of individual banks and the capital savings of the people. The banks encroached very little upon the Federal Reserve.

"YET the Federal Reserve authorities are throwing up their hands in holy horror because the banks are borrowing $1,000,000,000," the Wall Street Journal points out.

"The latter would probably not be borrowing half as much if the Federal Reserve Banks had not embarrassed the money market this year by selling securities just at a time when we were called upon to ship gold abroad.

"Most of this gold went to help France stabilize the franc, a matter of world importance second only to stabilization of sterling.

"WHEN the Federal Reserve stood ready to advance $200,000,000 it was hardly to be expected that the money market, after its tremendous expansion of the past few years, could lose $500,000,000 of gold and absorb $400,000,000 of securities without filling the void from some other source.

"In short, the Federal Reserve forsook the money market and the banks just when they stood in need of assistance.

"AS A matter of fact we are just beginning to make normal use of the credit resources of the Federal Reserve banks. But they do not appear to be aware of their own developing position, no more than they appreciate the importance of the security market in our economic structure, both as a medium for investment and as a depository for the country's enormous loanable funds."

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 9 to 16 points, active months quickly showing net gains of 18 to 22 points on continuation of the recent buying movement. This was encouraged by relatively steady cables, reports of floods damaging crops in the Carolinas and more unfavorable crop advices from the Southwest.

The advance to 19.47c for December, a recovery of 137 points from the recent low level, attracted a good deal of realizing, while there was some southern selling under which prices eased off 20 points or more, or 2 to 5 points net lower. This dip brought in more buying, however, and the market was steady at the end of the first hour.

Private cables said there had been Bombay and continental buying in Liverpool on reports of deteriorating American crop prospects.

Fluctuations were irregular later in the morning but orders to buy on reiterated reports of deterioration in crop prospects were supplied by realizing and prices eased off as the demand slackened somewhat toward midday. December sold down to 19.25c with the active months showing net declines of 2 to 3 points.

PITTSBURGH PLATE MOVES HIGHER ON SMALL BUYING

Trading volume dwindled again today on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange and prices continued to fluctuate in the narrow range to which the general list has held for the past week.

Early dealings comprised a few odd-lot transactions in scattered issues at prices unchanged from those prevailing yesterday. The Arkansas Gas issues opened the market with the common at 2⅞ and the preferred at 7¼, both unchanged. Consolidated Ice common was handled unchanged at $5 a share for a block of 100 shares. There was no trading in Ice preferred, but asking prices were substantially above the last previous sale price.

It is reported that negotiations looking to sale of a parcel of Consolidated Ice's downtown property are going forward, but that closing of the transaction may be deferred for some time. Sale of this property, it is understood, will permit extinguishment of all, or a large portion, of the dividend arrearage on the preferred stock, now amounting to about $29 a share.

The company has been paying two dividends of 75 cents each year on the preferred since 1925.

Lone Star Gas did not come into the market until well along toward the noon hour. Quotations were practically unchanged, with the stock hovering close to the 52 level at which it closed last night.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass was firm, and demand for a comparatively small amount of the stock was reflected in an advance to 256 as compared with the previous close at 255.

Around noon a few hundred shares of Arkansas Gas preferred was wanted and the stock advanced a small fraction on the buying.

Respect All Religions; Self-Seeking Politicians Are Courting Danger

Senator Robinson, vice-presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket, in a recent utterance, attacks the churches for their opposition to Smith on the prohibition question, and defends Tammany Hall.

It is, perhaps, natural that a defense of Tammany Hall should include an attack on the churches, or on any temperance agencies, or moral agencies of any kind. The unfortunate part of Senator Robinson's utterance is the UN-AMERICAN attempt to drag religious sects into politics.

What the sectarian private citizen may say or do does not particularly matter, although all efforts to excite religious antagonism are deplorable. What does matter is that a duly authorized and accredited standard-bearer of the Democratic party should attack religious sects and attempt to make political capital of it.

Gov. Smith's challenge to the Rev. Dr. Straton and the Governor's insistence that this political debate be held in a church, have apparently the same un-American purpose of making political capital out of religious prejudice.

THE HEARST PAPERS advise the candidates of both parties to leave religious sects and the representatives of religious sects alone in this campaign and to make no attempts whatever to aggragvate religious antagonisms.

Ministers, priests and rabbis should be respected and protected because of the sanctity of their calling. Even a little fanaticism on their part should be tolerated and condoned. It is, perhaps, a necessary part of their religious enthusiasm and devotion. Overzeal is an excusable fault in the clergy, but there is no place for fanaticism among public men, representatives of great parties, seeking great offices at the hands of a liberal and enlightened citizenship.

Attacks on religious people or religious bodies by politicians, selfishly seeking office, can only react to the disadvantage and discredit of the politicians.

So if these politicians have not patriotism enough to consider the spirit of our institutions and the welfare of our country and the necessity of our people living in unity and harmony, perhaps these office-seekers will consider their own personal welfare and the injury that will accrue to them from their INJUDICIOUS and UN-AMERICAN attempts to drag religion into politics.

Mr. Pennington Receives Left-Handed Indorsement

The administration of the prohibition law in the Pittsburgh district by John D. Pennington has been indorsed by certain Allegheny county politicians. They don't like him because his work here has been too effective to suit them. So they would have him "promoted" to some other district. They profess to be fearful that his continuance here may cost the party some votes, but the administration in Washington takes the stand that prosecution of a crook is "good politics."

Good politics, forsooth! If the prosecution of a crook were bad politics, is it an implication that Mr. Pennington might go?

Anyway, a deaf ear has been turned to the plea for the "promotion." Perhaps it is realized that the politicians may not be so much concerned about the loss of presidential votes as they are about the lessening of returns by those from whom they make "collections."

The fact that Mr. Pennington is not liked by politicians is a very good reason for believing that he is succeeding, to some extent at least, in enforcing the law. You may not like the law he enforces, but it is the law and we must respect it.

Also honor the man who does his duty in making it effective.

Two Cars to Average Family

That Will Come With More Prosperity, and Soon.

This country has, running, 24,000,000 automobiles, and every man that has bought a car has shown common sense. Any bird that might have wings and preferred to be a hop-toad would be foolish. And the best of it is that 3,000,000 American individuals and corporations have more than one car to a family.

Horses eat when not used. Automobiles do NOT. Two cars for the average family, three cars for the large family with grown children, that will be the rule. Each bird needs its own set of wings. The nation needs 30,000,000 cars, 6,000,000 new cars a year, if each car lasts five years.

Foolish Sugrue

$20,000 Is Not Enough to Brag On.

Money makes us proud.

Daniel Sugrue, aged sixty-five, was begging, and angry when brought to court and described as a "bum." He told the judge he had more money than the policeman ever earned, $20-000 cash in bank.

The judge sent him to jail for six months. If instead of $20,000 he had had $20,000,000, fine lawyers would have set him free. Don't be a little man.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Two Planets.

DURING July many persons practising, either by choice (which is well) or by necessity (which is not bad when it produces such a result) the virtue of rising before the sun have admired the spectacle presented by the close approach to one another of the planets Mars and Jupiter, which were nearest together in the sky on the morning of July 4. They are now separating, but still both are in the same celestial neighborhood, and the opportunity for amateurs to become acquainted with them together continues.

Mars is next to the smallest member of the planetary family (Mercury only being smaller), while Jupiter is the unrivalled chief of that family, as far as size, mass, and majesty of aspect can make him so. In bulk and in mass he greatly exceeds all the other planets put together. Against Mars' diameter of 4,200 miles, Jupiter's is 88,000 miles. But Mars is now about 116,000,000 miles away, while Jupiter's distance is 438,000,000. Since apparent size and brightness vary inversely as the square of the distance, you see at once what an advantage as far as appearance goes Mars derives from his relative nearness; and yet the real superiority of Jupiter is so great that in spite of his disadvantage he makes Mars look very small beside him. Yet Mars also outshines the fixed stars with his reddish light, so that both the planets are readily distinguishable from the stars in the sky around them.

Of one thing Mars can boast over Jupiter—namely, that many astronomers suspect that he is an abode of life; but that distinction is not accorded to his great neighbor.

These stars include some beautiful and historic constellations. The conspicuous square figure seen high in the eastern sky shortly after midnight is the "Great Square of Pegasus," and the first meridian of the heavens, that of the Vernal Equinox, which determines astronomical time and the march of the seasons, runs nearly straight through the two easternmost of the stars forming the square.

The line of bright stars starting from the northeast corner of the square mark the constellation of Andromeda, whose story is the most romantic of all the star legends of antique mythology.

Looking out of my eastern window this morning, Andromeda's starry form, on which both Jupiter and Mars seemed to gaze, appeared adorned with uncommon beauty by the crystal air over the Burgundian hills, and with the naked eye I could plainly discern that marvel of marvels, the Great Andromeda Nebula, which astronomers are now nearly unanimous in regarding as a distant universe glittering in the depths of extra-galactic space, at a distance from us of at least A MILLION LIGHT YEARS. And as I glanced again at the two overlooking planets I could but wonder whether from them, too, eyes of God-given intelligence might be regarding this spectacle of starry immensity.

It seems a pity that so many persons should consider the stars as mere casuals, appearing haphazardly in the heavens—many one night, few the next—instead of what they are, the eternal landmarks of the cosmos, denoting in their congregated splendor the illimitable power of that supreme intelligence which formed not only one universe of billions of suns, but unnumbered others, their bright procession extending onward beyond the reach of thought.

Air Permits

IT is not so easy to get a Federal license to pilot an airplane.

You can get a limited commercial pilot license after a course of 50 hours of flying. This includes 10 hours of dual instruction and 20 hours of solo flying. The final 20 hours include instruction in performing and recovering from spins, loops, wing-overs and rolls, and night and cross-country flying.

In order to secure a transport pilot's license under the Department of Commerce regulations, a total of 200 hours of flying is required.

The best pilots in the United States today, however, are those who have completed the courses given by the Army and Navy flying schools. The instruction there calls for at least 300 hours of flying, after rigorous physical examination of the student. It also requires an extended and detailed knowledge of the construction and operation of both the airplane and the engine.

Analyze Your Energy

AT times you complain because fortune has not smiled on you.

You compare your position with that of men of wealth.

You think you would be satisfied and happy if you had enough money.

Your salary permits you to have a comfortable home.

You have a car and are able to dress your family fairly well.

You are allowed a vacation each year.

What does the man you envy have more than this?

His home may be larger and better furnished, his car more expensive, his family better dressed, and he can make his vacation longer and stop at more expensive places if he chooses.

But are you carrying as large a burden as they whom you think so fortunate?

How would you like to worry and scheme and plan as they must to protect the fortune they have, or lose it?

Are you not more carefree, less annoyed by perplexities?

You can throw off responsibilities once a year, anyway.

The rich man's mind is never at rest.

His mind must be working at times when yours is free from anxiety and business cares.

Old Home Town

TO saunter down Parisian ways

All this is like a dream come true.

In London, Venice or Shanghai
Famed wonders greet my gaze,
And still in spite of all I sigh
For streets of other days,

In my

Great Passages from the Bible

The Creation of Life

(Genesis 1; 20-31; 2; 1-3)

AND God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.

And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

And God blessed them, saying, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let fowl multiply in the earth.

And the evening and the morning were the fifth day.

And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beast of the earth after his kind: and it was so.

And God made the beast of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat.

And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to everything that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so.

And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them.

And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made.

And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE Scotch jokes ain't all gone yet. This one is about Angus Cameron and how he sent a telegram. He says to the girl at the counter, "How many words can I send, and how much will it cost? I want to telegraph my wife in Chicago to stay in the house because there's going to be a lot of shooting tonight."

"It'll cost 72 cents for 10 words. The signature costs nothing."

"I kin sign my whole name for nothing?"

"Yes."

The Scotchman from Chicago thought it over a long time, and then he come back with a telegraph blank. It had this on it:

"Stay-In-After-Dark."

"That'll be 72 cents," says the girl. "You could send six more words if you want to for the same money."

"But you don't understand,' says Angus. "Thats my signature, and it goes for nothing, you said. You see, I'm a Sioux Indian, just playing I'm Scotch. I sign my real Indian name to telegrams, and I couldn't think of anything to say to my wife, so you just send her my name for nothing."

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Thoughts while strolling: That exalted feeling when a policeman taps you on the shoulder from behind and only wants a match. The self-conscious look of a rumble seat rider. O. P. Heggie, the actor, who has a squint like an outfielder.

Sinister looking places labeled "Baths." Montague Glass, a Manchester (England) boy, who made good in the city. What's become of the grocer who handed you a quarter-pound slice of cheese on a knife as a sample? Handsome slick-haired and hatless boy Romeos. Who should be measuring ribbons.

Chauffeurs who know all the crossing cops. The Chinese art dealer who looks like Charles Hanson Towne. Why are many fashion writers so dowdily dressed? Beggars who sit on church steps. No deformity so noticeable as a twisted ear. Sporty old fellows who wear wide-winged collars and gray derbies.

Grinning fatheads who skip across the street in crowded traffic. Studious looking men strolling toward the park with books. And perching on high rocks. Side streets where women sit on stoops, men stand in doorways and children play ball in the streets. Sixth avenue's fake fur sales.

Home-cooking tearooms specializing in gin. Patient foreigners who stand all day and half the night in front of umbrella candy and fruit stands. Actors who have their full names in big letters on sides of autos. Lease-expiring sales that go on forever.

Dull faces and knife-edged trousers. A blushing young couple in an open carriage gets a razzing from the sidewalk crowd. New York enjoys hooting. Vina Delmar, the writer. One of the furtive old fellows who swoops down upon a cigar snipe in the gutter. And slinks away.

A famous murderer stops to stroke a kitten. Ben Bernie. And Walter Catlett. The reverential attitude in those second-hand bookstalls. Endless lines of street cars with only a handful of passengers.

A velvet-coated Italian street quartet. Wish they'd sing that Cheedie Beedie Bee tune. Buttermilk biscuits, oo, la, la!

The dressing room of a certain actress has been invaded nightly by an old bore who imagines he is in love with the lady. Finally she dropped a gentle hint by remarking:

"Whenever some awful bore asks me where I live, I always say in the country."

He laughed politely and asked brightly: "Why, where do you live?"

She replied: "In the country."

The block in which Mayor Walker lives in St. Luke's place is solidly ramparted with old-fashioned three-story brick homes with basement dining rooms and a long flight of steps leading up to the main hall. Across the way is a playground with its noisy jangle, but there is something peaceful and simple about the block. In front of the Mayor's home are two white lights, the only touch distinguishing it from the rest of the houses. The Mayor also maintains an apartment uptown which seems plenty of home for one so seldom here.

Coolidge and the Clouds

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

President Coolidge, talking to reporters, told them it is his intention to make regular pilgrimages to his old home in Vermont.

His purpose is to keep in touch with what the humble, average men and women of the country are thinking and feeling.

In Washington, he feels himself more or less isolated from common life and the opinions of common people.

There, "public opinion" tends to represent the ideas of the organized parts of society rather than those of the unorganized mass of voters.

Public opinion moves like the clouds on a summer's day.

At different levels the air currents are moving in different directions.

Near the earth the clouds may be moving in one direction and higher up in another.

At times public opinion in one stratum advises one action; in another an opposite action.

The attitude of New York City or Chicago upon the question of prohibition is only the attitude of one stratum. It does not indicate the direction all the clouds of public opinion are moving.

The chief executive who carries on the business of his office most successfully is the one who watches the clouds at all levels and is not influenced entirely by the way one set is moving.

The opinions of the organized groups with which he is surrounded are like the clouds near the earth. They can be easily seen and often they obscure the ones higher up which may be setting in another direction.

These other clouds are the opinions of the unorganized mass of voters who express their ideas at election time.

The direction the majority of the clouds move should be the guiding factor in most presidential decisions. This is not always easy to determine. To achieve it he must examine all strata, and especially that on which the ideas of the common people, which are usually less easily perceived, move.

President Coolidge showed his wisdom in making his regular visits to the stratum in which common people live.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

AN extremely popular delicatessen lunchroom in New York City has a sign that is too big to be overlooked, which reads: "No animals allowed in here, by order of the Board of Health." And this neighborhood—Fifty-seventh street and Seventh avenue—is the doggiest place in the city. There is a little less trade, but everybody is happy, except perhaps the dogs.

The papers note that a woman is missing on one of the night boats to Albany. If we know our musical comedy, it is strange that the fact was discovered so soon. People used to take the boat to be missed.

Women protest against work more and more, and I know one who complains now because her phonograph isn't electric, and she has to expend an effort winding it.

Housework is said to be the very best exercise a woman can take. It takes fat off from the places where women like fat the very least.

The popular way of reducing seems to be to go without eating, and it is ruining the health of more than one woman. I know a gal who has coffee for breakfast, nothing for lunch, and, for dinner, vegetables, and she wonders why she feels so fagged out all the time. And they are invariably better company when they eat three times a day. Food does prop up the disposition.

Miss Lillian Genth, who became famous for her paintings of beautiful nude women, announces that she will never again paint a nude woman.

You can get fed up on beauty even at theaters, where nudity is no longer a surprise, heardly a treat, and in fact to many, a downright bore. The girls that got the applause in a recent musical comedy were those in old-fashioned hoop skirts, oodles of petticoats and funny poke fronted hats.

A girl in New York had an alligator sent to her for a present. A young one, for which she had built a tin-lined box with a water pool at one end. She caught choice flies for the animal and she put fresh meat in his box every day. For eight months the alligator didn't eat a bite. And he grew. She finally gave him to the zoo.

Vincent Youmans says his wife can whistle for her alimony. At that it is more than many wives have to do. But men are getting full of ideas on this matrimony thing. And it won't be long now till alimony will be something paid to the children alone.

Title? Pouf, Pouf!

A VICOMTE, poet of the old French aristocracy, announces that he never will marry an American girl, "because they smoke and drink too much."

Another reason he won't is that American girls have everything to say about whom they will marry, and titles are getting to be more or less of a bore in America.
